STEEL FIRMS RATIFY PACT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Steel Erectors' Association of British Columbia reached an agreement in a two-hour meeting of its members today aimed at settling a strike of 550 ironworkers.

T. H. Shields, president of the association, said the meeting's decision has been passed on to William Fraser, chief B.C. conciliation officer. He gave no hint whether the companies had agreed on a settlement favored in a meeting of representatives of both sides Tuesday.

Mr. Shields said it would be detrimental to make anything public now. The union was to meet tonight to vote on Tuesday's proposals.

Tension Grows In Cuba Crisis

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI)—Internal political tension mounted today with unconfirmed reports of fighting in Las Villas Province and increasing signs that the anti-government conspiracy has not been completely wiped out.

Liberal Chief To Visit City In September

National Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson will visit Victoria next month during a tour of Western Canada.

He will be on the coast for a three-day period, Sept. 10, 11, and 12. One of the three days will be spent in Victoria, although details of the visit are not complete.

Vancouver Island vice-president of the B.C. Liberal Association, Arthur H. Cox, said it is tentatively planned to entertain Mr. Pearson at a garden party where he will meet party members, rather than hold a political meeting.

Provincial leader of the party, Ray Perrault of Vancouver, will accompany Mr. Pearson to Victoria and on his tour through other B.C. points.

The visit is thought to be part of Liberal party reorganizational campaigning undertaken by Mr. Perrault in anticipation of a provincial election in 1960.

Now Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, Mr. Pearson, 62, is a 1957 Nobel Peace prize winner, former Canadian secretary of state for external affairs, former chairman of the NATO council and served as president of the UN seventh session in 1952-53. He represents the riding of Algoma East, in Ontario and lives at Ottawa.

Prince to Pinch Hit?

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana said today Prince Philip may visit Ghana this fall in place of the Queen, whose scheduled visit was cancelled with the announcement that she is expecting a baby.

Events pointing up the tense situation include these:
Suspension of telephone communications with Las Villas Province by government order.

Continued arrests of persons suspected of participation in the plot, with some estimates running as high as 3,000, including many in the interior of the island.

Premier Fidel Castro's failure to appear last night for a scheduled nationwide radio-television address to report on the government's success in putting down the conspiracy. (One report said Castro had been shot and wounded, but a foreign ministry spokesman said this was "completely false.")

Information from reliable sources that the conspiracy's masterminds escaped arrest, leaving the government only the movement's figure-heads and/or money men.

Castro's apparent indecision about his personal participation in the foreign ministers' conference in Santiago, Chile, at which friends say he is extremely anxious to appear.

OPEN CLASH
Furthermore, the unconfirmed reports from Las Villas indicate the possibility of some type of open clash between Castro's government forces and unidentified rebels.

The number of participants in this clash is unknown, but it is believed that there are at least several dead and wounded as a result of it.

Some sources identify the rebels as ex-soldiers from ousted president Fulgencio Batista's army, while others say the rebels include elements which assisted in the overthrow of Batista.

Complete severance of telephone connections which normally are good with the area and long delays in getting through with air messages also are obscuring up-to-date reports from western Cuba.

Reports piling into Havana indicate an almost unbelievable number of arrests throughout the island. Informal sources indicate that early reports of more than 1,000 arrested were far below actuality.

The 1,000 figure probably applied to the first day round-up on Saturday in Havana alone.

In succeeding days, the Havana figure probably has risen another 1,000, while reports from interior cities indicate at least another 1,000 definitely picked up there and the total is still rising rapidly.

Castro's failure to appear Tuesday night for his radio-TV address gives added weight to speculation that the government's preventive activities are continuing.

READY FOR TONIGHT'S TITLE FIGHT

Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore points to scales as Canadian challenger Yvon Durelle weighs in for tonight's 15-round championship bout at Montreal. Moore weighed in at 174½ and Durelle 173. Centre is E. T. Asselin, member of Montreal Athletic Commission. (AP Wirephoto.)

BUT YVON APPEARS CONFIDENT

The Odds Favor Archie

MONTREAL (UPI)—Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore weighed 174½ pounds and challenger Yvon Durelle scaled 173 at their weigh-in today for the return title fight tonight at the Montreal Forum.

Moore, defending the 175-pound crown for the eighth time, was heavier than he was on Dec. 10 for his first fight with Durelle, when he registered 173½. Durelle also was heavier. He scaled 172 in December.

Durelle appeared very confident and was smiling as he stepped up to the scales although betting odds are 3-1 in favor of the champion.

Just before the weigh-in, the Montreal Athletic Commission announced that six-ounce gloves would be used tonight. Both fighters said they were satisfied with the decision.

Eight-ounce gloves were used in the first fight, but both Durelle and Moore requested the lighter gloves for their second match.

SEE FIGHT CHANNEL 5

Victoria residents may view the Moore-Durelle fight tonight over Channel 5 at 7 p.m. There will be no telecast by the CBC.

Radio station CKNW, New Westminster, at 980 kilocycles will also carry the fight.

Victoria and Vancouver radio stations will carry only bulletins.

U.S. Will Let Khrushchev See Some Military Bases

KING TUT'S CANE STOLEN

CARLO (UPI)—A priceless gold-plated cane from the tomb of King Tutankhamen has been stolen from the Carlo museum, police reported today.

The 4½-foot cane bore the hieroglyphic inscription, "He that carries this cane will have the blessing of Ammon and walk in his retinue." Ammon was the chief Egyptian deity.

Selim Hassan, Egypt's leading Egyptologist, said the cane was "as precious as Moses' stick."

"It played a historic role in uncovering the secrets of Tutankhamen's reign," he said. "It bore the king's name, title and biography."

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that Premier Khrushchev is being invited to see some military installations during his visit to the United States if he wishes.

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the president told a press conference. But if he does not want to see any establishments, that will be agreeable to Eisenhower too.

Khrushchev told a Moscow press conference last Wednesday that if he were invited to see an American military installation "I would not go." He added he would go to the U.S. as a peaceful man and would not have any rocket sticking out of his pocket.

Discussing the unprecedented Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

He also plans to ask why Khrushchev does not permit the progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

In response to a series of questions about the Khrushchev visit here next month and his visit to Russia later, Eisenhower also said:

1. He hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to act as a spokesman for the West.

2. Eisenhower does not plan to accompany Khrushchev on his tour around the U.S.

3. His decision to invite Khrushchev here and to go to Russia is not, by any means, a reversal of the policies of the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

He often talked with Dulles about such visits and as long ago as the last month of 1958 they began to feel that their diplomacy should be reinforced by something new in this respect.

4. On his own trip to Russia, Eisenhower would like to see people and find out what they are like.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
Our Father, be with all who travel this summer. Teach that they will see in the places they visit what they carry in their minds and hearts. Thus may they see good things and find persons who are devoted to Thy everlasting ways; in the name of Christ. Amen.

Little Rock may not be eddicatin' its own citizens these days, but it's sure eddicatin' th' rest of us.

Wonder whut new mention Durelle will git in Of Moore's Almanac?

Hope th' iron workers git up their eye-beams fer th' vote t'nite.

1,700 DAYS —NO DEATHS

TRAFFIC MAYHEM

Did You Ever Get That Urge?

MALDEN, Mass. (AP)—Robert Bryan, 39, stood on a corner and signalled a bus to stop.

The bus went by him. Police said Bryan took a taxi, overtook and boarded the bus and punched driver Walter L. Crowley.

Crowley sought a complaint in district court Tuesday charging Bryan with assault. The issue is scheduled to be decided next week.

ROME (Reuters)—An Italian taxi driver was taken to hospital for plastic surgery Tuesday after part of his nose was bitten off by a motorist in a quarrel at a crossroads. The taxi driver, Giuseppe Catroni, 30, and the motorist got out of their cars and began fighting after each refused to give the right of way.

Grid Star Arrested In Drug Raid

TORONTO (CP)—A star Toronto football player and six other persons appeared in court today on charges of illegal possession of marijuana and were remanded without plea until Aug. 19.

The seven were arrested Tuesday in two raids by R.C.M.P. and city police following lengthy and intensive investigations.

Toronto Argonauts halfback Dave Mann, 27, was released Tuesday night on $3,000 bail put up by the Argonauts club of the Big Four Football Union. Managing director Lew Hayman said Mann will dress for the pre-season game tonight against Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Marlene in Golf Win

TORONTO (CP)—Marlene Stewart Strait of Toronto defeated Mrs. G. A. Cole (the former Betty Stanhope of Edmonton) 2 and 1 today in the second round of the Canadian women's open golf championship.

New Fight Flares Over Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Police clubbed back segregationists today near Central High School just before two Negroes walked calmly across its campus to integrate it once again.

The segregationists had been pushed back a block by police who clubbed and arrested at least 15 of them.

Fire hoses also were turned on the demonstrators.

But the crowd still jeered police, calling them "cowards" as Jefferson Thomas, 16, and Elizabeth Eckford, 17, approached the school alone. They walked quietly along the street.

200 IN PARADE

Some 200 segregationists had marched on Central from a rally on the state legislature's lawn where Governor Orval Faubus told them nothing was to be gained by violence.

Police were rushed from Hall High School where three Negroes were integrated this morning without incident.

The scene at Central was reminiscent of the bloody battle in 1957 when President Eisenhower ordered in 1,000 paratroopers to keep the peace and protect nine Negroes who integrated the school.

Police Chief Gene Smith ordered hoses turned on the demonstrators as a last resort. Part of the crowd fell back but a few stood up to the stinging streams of water.

A boy and a man were bleeding from wounds on their heads.

Another man was crying. He said he had been cracked across the ribs with a night-stick.

Six girls, standing up to the water and drenched from head to foot, sobbed and screamed. Another girl screamed over and over, "Communists! Communists! Communists!"

The marchers had been chanting, "2-4-6-8, we don't want to integrate."

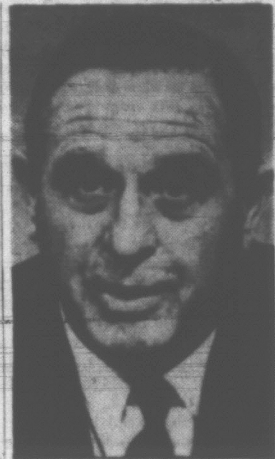

It was one of the battle cries segregationists had used in 1957.

The scuffle lasted six or eight minutes, but the worst was over in four minutes.

Faubus went from his office in the state legislative buildings to the scene of a lunch-time segregation rally on the lawn outside and told the crowd he was with them "all the way."

A storm of applause greeted the governor's appearance. He spoke for several minutes, reiterating earlier statements that he believed the ballot box was the best way to fight integration.

Some reached him and patted him on the back.

Latin Nations Told to Keep The Peace

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Chile's President Jorge Alessandri urged the 21 American republics today to seek peaceful settlements of their disputes and try to strengthen the inter-American system.

A drive toward enforcement of human rights also was taking shape.

In a speech at the opening session of a conference of foreign ministers of the American republics, Alessandri said it is imperative that peace, freedom and law prevail throughout the western hemisphere.

The conference was called to discuss tensions in the Caribbean.

Previously, one of the heaviest concentrations of police ever seen in Santiago broke up a Communist-led march on the U.S. embassy here Tuesday night.

Police on foot and on horseback had been posted to guard the embassy, where U.S. secretary of state Christian A. Herter will live for the five-day duration of the conference. Motorized troops were held in reserve nearby to deal with serious disorders.

People and Things

NEW YORK—Broadway's actors are getting irked at rats, bad air and bum plumbing.

One hit show, "The Music Man," faces threat of suspended performance by Equity, the actors' union, if backstage changes are not made promptly.

The curtain at Monday night's performance at the Majestic Theatre was delayed 13 minutes as a union committee made an inspection tour.

"The situation there has become intolerable," said a union representative.

Equity's complaint to Kermit Bloomgarden, producer of "The Music Man," listed overcrowded dressing rooms, improper ventilation, dirty toilet and rats. He was told the cast would not perform if improvements were not speeded.

MOSCOW — Tass news agency reported Tuesday night that Mahmoud Bagir Ogl Eivasov is dead at age 156. The agency said Eivasov worked on a collective farm in the Caucasian Mountain village of Pirassura and was feeling fine until a few days ago. Eivasov left about 200 descendants, Tass said.

HOLLYWOOD — Neighbors complain that it's too noisy around actor Steve Brodie's house.

They told the city attorney's office that:

Brodie works late at night with a power saw, plays an outside radio loudly, his horse-shoe playing "sounds like an iron factory" and the Brodie children bat baseballs into other yards.

Brodie appeared before Deputy Samuel Copeland Palmer III Tuesday and said he had quit the midnight sawing a year ago, had removed the radio speaker and shifted the horsehoe pits. Palmer suggested that the kids play ball without a bat on a vacant lot. He set another hearing in two weeks to see how things go.

Australia Cuts Taxes But Boosts Pensions

CANBERRA (Reuters)—The Australian government cut income taxes and increased old age and other social security pensions Tuesday.

Federal Treasurer Harold Holt announced in the House of Representatives that the budget proposals are aimed at expansion with stability.

About $25,000,000 will be lopped off the tax bill in the £1,682,000,000 budget, as income taxes are reduced across the board by five per cent and other tax rates are lowered. Industry will be able to keep a larger share of profits after dividends, while non-resident investors will be allowed to meet Australian tax liabilities on dividends through a withholding tax.

To encourage overseas investments, American, Canadian and British shareholders in Australian companies will have three shillings in the pound deducted from dividends. Shareholders in other countries which have no reciprocal tax agreement with Australia will have six shillings in the pound deducted.

This will discharge completely their Australian tax liability.

ZONES TESTED 'SAFE' SAYS BENNETT

All 60-miles-per-hour speed zones in the province were selected by RCMP officials and highway engineers, Premier Bennett said Tuesday.

He said he did not feel the new speed zones were contributing to the recently increased highway death rate. He said he had been driven through many of the 60-mile zones recently at that speed, and found them safe to negotiate.

B.C. Firms Buy Plywood From U.S.

VANCOUVER (CP)—United States plywood is being imported to British Columbia to allow completion of construction jobs in progress, it was learned Tuesday.

H. G. Lester, vice-president of the Plywood Manufacturers Association of B.C., said some firms are making purchases from Washington and Oregon mills during the coastal forest tieup.

Lester said plywood manufacturers in B.C. are concerned that customers may turn to substitute materials during the current prolonged strike of the IWA because plywood is not available for completion of jobs.

Settlement Pact Made In Ironworkers Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prospects of a second major strike settlement within less than a week appeared on the troubled British Columbia labor front today.

A joint statement late Tuesday night from striking ironworkers and the Steel Erectors' Association of B.C. said committees representing the two parties have agreed on terms for a settlement.

The terms, which were not disclosed, will be subject to a membership vote today by the association.

Norman Eddison, business agent for the Ironworkers' Union, and T. H. Shields, president of the Steel Association, said in their statement that the two parties agreed to recommend to their respective memberships the terms of the proposal made at a meeting with William Fraser, chief conciliation officer for the provincial labor department.

Earlier, Mr. Shields had disclosed that an interim agreement had been signed by the union and Northern Construction Company Ltd., contractor on the B.C. Electric's $56,000, 000 hydro-electric project at Bridge River.

Meanwhile nearly 1,200 electrical workers begin voting today to decide whether they will go on support of demands for a shorter work week.

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence ministers of the United States and Canada are agreed that more radar is needed for continental defence.

MAYOR APPROVES MR. K. VISIT

A visit to Victoria by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev might prove better than diplomacy, Mayor Percy Scurrell suggested Tuesday.

"The more he sees of North America, the better it will be," the mayor said. He was commenting on an announcement by Vancouver's mayor Tom Alsbury that he would ask the federal government to include the mainland port if Mr. Khrushchev is invited to tour Canada.

Mayor Scurrell said the Soviet leader should visit Victoria too if he sees Vancouver.

"I'm a great believer in visiting other countries, meeting people and getting to know their problems," the mayor said.

"It's always a good idea to see the people of other places and get acquainted. It's better than diplomacy."

WORK AVAILABLE

Job Picture Improved Over 1958

Many more jobs are available in Greater Victoria today than there were a year ago, according to figures released by the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Some 37,000 jobs were registered with the commission in July, compared to 28,500 a year ago.

And the year has also seen a 30 per cent reduction in the number of persons looking for work.

However, the UIC warns that "the current wave of labor-management disputes" is causing a weakening in the job position, mainly on the mainland.

The commission reports fewer women seeking jobs than a year ago, although there is still some demand for certain qualified office staff, and experienced restaurant workers.

In Victoria today 2,147 men are seeking work, compared with 2,607 this time last year.

Understanding on this point was reached here Tuesday in talks between Defence Secretary Neil McElroy of the U.S. and Defence Minister Pearkes of Canada. But Mr. Pearkes made clear the cabinet must still approve any such policy for Canada.

Mr. McElroy paid a one-day visit to Ottawa to seek Canadian co-operation in constructing more heavy radars in Canada to fill the Prairie gap.

REACTION FAVORABLE

Reaction of Mr. Pearkes to the suggestion was favorable.

"We decided it would be desirable to increase the facilities of the warning system by introduction of new and more powerful radars and the addition of more gap-filler radars than originally contemplated," he told reporters.

The Pinetree radar network, which controls the operations of jet interceptors and anti-aircraft missiles, extends from the east coast to the region of Winnipeg and from Dawson Creek, B.C., westward to the Pacific coast.

It is the gap from Winnipeg to eastern British Columbia that defence planners wish to fill. Plans have been drawn up for seven new heavy radars—two in central Canada and five on the Prairies—but Mr. McElroy said more are needed.

Canada's participation in the expanded program would require cabinet approval, Mr. Pearkes said.

Cost of the project was not given but it probably would run to $100,000,000. The United States would pay at least two-thirds—it put up two-thirds of the money for the Pinetree line and the new radars.

Mr. McElroy and Mr. Pearkes told reporters more radar is needed to make sure warning facilities are not paralyzed by electronic jamming.

After the discussions between the two ministers, the Canadian defence department issued this statement:

"Among matters discussed was the question of improving present arrangements and equipment for defence of the North American Continent."

It was confirmed that there is no question of the redeployment of the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile defence and associated equipment from its currently planned location, nor is there any question of the deployment of intercontinental ballistic missiles on Canadian territory.

The Inward Struggle

THE FISHERMEN'S UNION has won large concessions from the operators, probably all it ever hoped to get, and its members can claim to be the highest-paid fishermen in the world. But the situation in the striking International Woodworkers of America is much more complicated. Behind the I.W.A.'s struggle with management looms an internal struggle whose outcome will profoundly affect the future of our largest industry.

At present the great timber union is led by Mr. Joseph Morris, a non-communist and, in the judgment of both his supporters and opponents, a moderate. A more radical wing of the I.W.A. is led by Mr. Syd Thompson who, in the last two years, has enjoyed a spectacular rise to influence after winning control of the big Vancouver local.

According to the B.C. News Letter, edited by Mr. Howard T. Mitchell, a reliable reporter, Mr. Thompson was avowedly a communist and Labor Progressive Party organizer in Alberta and eastern British Columbia before coming to the coast. He has stated, however, that he is no longer a member of the Communist Party.

Preparing for the present dispute, the Thompson faction, says the News Letter, proposed wage increases of 30 per cent, "an unheard-of demand and the Morris group considered it was made to put them on the spot. Starting from such a high beginning, the eventual demand was 20 per cent, which was only slightly less unrealistic. This had to be accepted and even proposed by the Morris team or be accused of lack of aggressiveness and militancy. The take-over of Vancouver Local 217 by Thompson was recent enough to be considered a warning by Morris and his followers."

The anti-communist Morris leadership, says the News Letter, "gambled on the desire of the industry to keep operating and of the provincial Government not to have a strike during the Queen's visit. The word passed around in the union was that a strike was out of the question, that employers would wilt if faced with a strong strike vote."

An Excellent Appointment

REGARDLESS OF THE EX-pressed opinion of Premier Bennett and others, or of what the Shrum Commission may decide, the professional and personal reputation of Mr. H. Lee Briggs today stands completely vindicated. With all Canada to choose from, Prime Minister Diefenbaker has selected Mr. Briggs to serve as the electrical power expert on the new National Energy Board.

Seldom does a man have the satisfaction of experiencing so outstanding a tribute to his ability so soon after a shower of adverse criticism such as Mr. Briggs weathered. His charges of political expediency in the B.C. Power Commission financing plans urged by Premier Bennett, and his stout defence of the consumer regardless of a smear campaign directed against him, won him the respect of all fair-minded citizens and established him as a man to whom truth and professional integrity came before everything else.

Still on the Job

WHILE THE DIPLOMATIC manoeuvres of the world have shifted from the United Nations council chambers to the realm of personal visits and negotiations, it should not be forgotten that other phases of the work of the U.N. continue.

One such phase is reflected in the report of the U.N. Children's Fund, which notes a spectacular victory over malaria in Kenya.

Five years ago malaria in that country was found among 90 per cent of the children. Today it afflicts only two per cent. In the first year of the work, it was deter-

Tomorrow's Slums

THE COMMUNITY PLANNING Association of Canada has just issued a document which should be carefully studied in all growing cities like Victoria. Today's sprawling subdivisions on the urban fringes, the association warns, may become tomorrow's slums.

Mr. Nigel H. Richardson, a town planning expert, who wrote this report, deplors the architectural monotony of many housing developments and also the frequent lack of proper amenities and adequate services. As he says, every house may be satisfactory of itself but the total impression of a new subdivision is often one of barrenness and ugliness because it has not been well planned in advance.

But management stood firm on its original offer, as approved by a majority of a conciliation board, the strike began. Mr. Morris reduced his demands substantially without success and now is criticized by many union members for the failure of his strategy.

As the record shows, an I.W.A. president does not usually survive a great strike and Mr. Morris may suffer the fate of his predecessors by involving himself in a strike that he did not want or expect. If he is not re-elected to his position, Mr. Thompson would expect to get his job.

If Mr. Thompson takes over the I.W.A., says the News Letter, and should resume his connections with the Communist Party (which he is perfectly entitled by law to do) then the party will "have rounded out its union leadership position to cover the three primary industries of the province—forestry, mining and fishing."

Most British Columbians do not desire such a situation when the purpose of dedicated communists is not to promote the welfare of private industry and seek reasonable strike settlements but to discredit and disrupt our system in the ultimate hope of establishing another. Most of British Columbia's organized workers share the same detestation of communism but sometimes allow communists to secure powerful positions of union leadership to the grave damage of the labor movement.

Since communism invariably works underground it is difficult to get all the facts. The News Letter suggests that they should be investigated by a royal commission for the information of the public and especially of the union members.

Last year, says the News Letter, the provincial Government rejected such an inquiry but after what has happened this year the Government may change its mind. For whatever the causes of industrial unrest may be—and no doubt they are many—British Columbia cannot afford another summer like this one. Investment, prosperity and job opportunities for workers will not continue to flow into a province where the economy is in constant peril of disruption.

Those qualities have now been recognized in spectacular fashion in the national field. The new energy board will be one of the most important technical bodies in the country, and many critical decisions on power resources in Canada, including British Columbia, will now come before Mr. Briggs and his four conferees.

The new appointment recalls a similar appreciation of the services of Mr. H. H. Griffin, who after resigning from the B.C. Power Commission on a question of principle after the Briggs disclosures, was subsequently appointed to the post of assistant chief commissioner on the federal Board of Transport Commissioners.

British Columbia has had, and still has, some outstanding experts in the electrical power field. It is this province's loss that in some cases men of first-rate ability, integrity and courage can only find proper governmental appreciation on the national scene.

The campaign was carried on with the co-operation of the British and local governments, and these tremendous results were obtained with comparatively little expense, although an area of 100,000 square miles was involved.

The work continues and still better results will no doubt be achieved. But even at this point we may chalk up another victory for medical science—and for the U.N.

Mr. Richardson's warning, now being widely publicized throughout the nation, deserves to be considered just the same. For almost everywhere in Canada our cities are growing chaotically, with little or no planning, and creating all kinds of problems—economic, financial, aesthetic—for the future.

"Okay... an hour to go before dawn... let's get those sidewalks out there again..."

WE LOOK BEFORE AND AFTER...

By B. A. TOBIN

Along About This Time of Year

BY mid-May children wonder if the summer holidays will ever begin. By mid-August a good many of them, I think, secretly wonder if they're ever going to end. The trouble is that by this time of year almost everything has been done. The week or more of camp is probably over by now, the local beach has ceased to be the out-of-the-routine thrill it was at first. The tree fort has been built—perhaps several of them. Gardening has become somewhat of a bore; the things that came up have been picked and those that didn't come up have been abandoned. It hardly seems worthwhile walking anywhere, or even hopping on the bicycle to go around the block. A picnic or two may still be in store, a promised hike in the offing. But somehow the summer seems to be drawing in to a close and the slightly earlier dusk each evening is hardly needed to prove it.

Tobin

It was a good summer of course. And nobody is quite ready yet to speak of it in the past tense. A lot of sun-bathing has resulted in deep tans. Feet cut at the beach are just about healed. The bee stings are for the most part only memories.

Complete Recovery

The various abrasions and contusions that go with scantly-clad racing around have almost all dried up nicely. Only small scars now mark the memory of the most enjoyable summer outings. It's been a pretty good summer.

There are positive gains, too. Last year's struggling ten-yard splash has become a smoothly-stroked fifty-yard swim. A little progress has been made in diving, with vertical effects predominating over the horizontal. So-and-so hill has been topped, perhaps, such-and-such a tall tree has fallen to someone's climbing prowess.

Proof has been gathered that the human body can survive a night on the hard ground with only a blanket or two over it, and it has been successfully demonstrated that the woods do not fill up with wild animals and malevolent influences as soon as darkness falls.

It has similarly been shown that cold water can be a test of fortitude as well as a medium for swimming. Some have learned—and may retain the knowledge for life—that a cold ducking, tackled with resolution and nerve, is not half the ordeal it becomes if approached timidly and with self-pity. The principle may be applied to many another "cold ducking" which life may present.

But all these things are beginning to slide into the past now. Unconsciously the mind looks forward to the next phase, and the next phase is school.

Test Run

Hardly a youngster will admit that, of course. But many of them reveal it without knowing. Several times of late their backyard or basement games have taken the form of "school." A teacher has set assignments, reproved the delinquents and awarded stars to the good students.

The now only slightly pre-school tot speaks increasingly of "when I go to school." There is occasional speculation on which teachers may be in charge next year. The junior and senior highs now and then drop a mention of new courses in store.

There seems to be a built-in presentiment of the imminence of school-opening, even in those who outwardly show no sign of anticipation. One thing seems obvious at any rate: a two-month holiday is just about long enough.

The summer vacation, of course, is much more than a mere breathing space between school terms. It is a growing period as well, a time to develop all those things there never seems to be time for during the school year.

It is also a valuable time to sit in the sun and encourage the capacity to do absolutely nothing for a while—a capacity which will become increasingly necessary as civilization becomes more crowded and hectic.

It is not too much to predict that the future may bring classes and courses in how to loaf. Doctors will be given sizable fees for their efforts to instruct and encourage patients to attain a temporary state of do-nothingness.

Right Instinct

The happy faculty that comes naturally to the child now may easily be lost in later years. Laziness, idleness, indolence and other epithets are cast on it now, engendering a sense of guilt in the idler, a feeling that he is transgressing some law.

But later on he will see that his inborn instinct was right—that he did well to slump in the sun occasionally, soaking up beneficent rays and nothing else. An hour prone on the hot sand proves in retrospect to be worth many hours supine on the psychiatrist's couch.

This then, was an unrecognized bonus from the summer holiday. A few months from now in the pressure of winter work, the hot yellow sunshine, the cool, boulder-rimmed pool, the sparkling surf and the shadow-dappled lawn will seem far away, almost unreal, a memory of pleasures little more attainable than a dream.

But they will be waiting, stored on the bountiful shelf of time, and by next mid-May young humans will wonder how they can exist another day without taking full and immediate possession of their rightful inheritance.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Outside Influence

"Playing into Communist hands."

Is it possible that the labor rank and file do not know that their constant demand for higher wages and shorter hours is playing straight into the hands of the Communists? The same applies just as much to producers and middlemen, who make too much profit out of the hapless public.

The laborer is worthy of his hire, and the producer of his profit, but not when these assume such proportions as to harm the country's well-being and way of life.

Are we not suffering today, perhaps, from too much outside interference in the management of labor unions, and in the demands of foreign capital? It is high time these were checked by law.

Whose Benefit?

Many greatly exaggerated quotations have appeared in the local press criticizing "Bill 43." As I understand, this act merely defines legal picketing, namely at the place where a lawful strike is actually occurring, thus outlawing the indiscriminate, illegal variety.

It also makes unions legal entities, so that they can be sued for damages when their actions are contrary to the law. Isn't this the usually accepted idea of justice to all?

An example of the other variety occurred on the Saanich Peninsula about two years ago: A small contractor, who had undertaken a public school addition, was picketed by a union, from which he had employed no members, thus had no agreement.

His employees declined to continue working, hence it is understood that the school children used crowded, improperly heated, unfinished facilities until December, and the contractor "went broke."

It is quite obvious that the public, including the school children, paid for this wrong-doing—but for whose benefit?

The Sensible Sex

I don't suppose statistics prove that men are wiser than women but wearing apparel does, especially women's shoes which are made in the most ridiculous shapes imaginable—some with so-called heels so long and spindly that no sensible person would wear them yet most women do. Then there are others that expose most of the foot which certainly isn't the most ornamental part of the body, to say the least, and shouldn't be exposed in public for more reasons than one.

Then again there is the slack fad. These garments are very becoming on some women depending on their form, while on others they expose the deformities.

Definite Proof

As a final verdict on the question of evolution or of non-evolution the August 15th issue of Maclean's Magazine gives in detail an account of an experiment carried out by Dr. Hans Selye of University of Montreal in which living cells of an entirely new form of life evolved.

In this article as told by Dr. Selye to Ken Lefolli is recounted the operation of inserting an air sac inside the skin of the body of a rat. This small tube, open at both ends fills gradually with a fluid similar to blood plasma, when, the tube becoming full, membranes of living tissue grow across both ends of the tube and seal the fluid in.

At this point, the article states living cells form "unlike any organ that ever existed, with a blood-supply system, connective tissues, and the other necessary characteristics of organic life."

In other words Dr. Selye has simply supplied further proof (if such were needed) that throughout billions of years Nature has developed or evolved from pre-existing matter, first single living cells, then combinations of cells, first into simple then more complex forms of organic life. Dr. Selye has merely given further and more definite proof of the certainty of evolution.

Top Flight Diplomats

FOR 16 days Lord Birkett—often in shirt sleeves and braces and his formal silk tie awry—labored at the complexities of the printing dispute with what one trade unionist reverently called "monumental patience." His tact was matched by his skill and persistence as a conciliator.

Many times in the hot and stuffy council chambers of the employers' headquarters behind Gray's Inn, the negotiators looked as if they would part on the worst of terms, but Lord Birkett kept them together until eventually they even seemed last Friday night to have assimilated some of his benignity.

The trade unionists were filled with awe at his grasp of the extremely complex technicalities of the printing trade.

Certainly few lawyers can have been presented with such a difficult brief as the pile of documents this former judge took to his country home the weekend before the negotiations began. Yet at the first session he startled the negotiators by quoting from memory a recorded section of a speech made at the 1946 court of inquiry into the printing industry.

When Mr. Morrison, the chairman of the trade union side, expressed his surprise at this feat, Lord Birkett quickly replied: "And I can remember the interruption you made during that speech in 1946, Mr. Morrison. You said to the court: 'Two men looked through prison bars. One saw mud and one saw stars.'"

Quotable Diplomatist

Roger Mellor Makins has always been near the seats of power and has occupied a fair number of them—His most elevated positions up to now were as ambassador at Washington and the post he is shortly relinquishing to take up his new post as chairman of the Atomic Energy Authority.

He was 48 when he became an ambassador and was quickly accepted as a man who, if carefully followed, was always likely to say something worth quoting. This does not at all apply to diplomatists generally and some of them think it just as well.

Sir Roger made a memorable speech in Wisconsin a couple of years after taking over the embassy in Washington in which he spoke of the difficulty of "diplomacy in a goldfish bowl."

Cameras and bright lights and quick communications he saw as factors militating against effective negotiation. And he warned the hearts of many Americans by this rather unambassadorial statement: "If the long-range development of foreign policy has been accurately compared to a game of chess, the actual negotiations necessary for its day-to-day conduct more often resemble stud poker."

More Sedate

Any Londoner over 70 who remembers distant (and, of course, happier) Hampstead Bank holidays felt on Monday the loss of Dickensian bustle, the beery men, the pearls, and the "stout parties" consuming cockles and wheats. "Everything," said one of them, "seems so much more sedate."

Admittedly the cheapjacks were still there, a few of them even selling such traditional wares as toffee apples: the rest were up-to-date with savage-faced balloons, miniature skeletons jerking obscenely at the pressure of a rubber bulb, and the real mid-century touch—suitcases of women's jeans, temptingly priced at 10s a pair.

Down the hill at the open-air art exhibition there were bargains of another sort, reaching—for a canvas by a friend of Annigoni's—as high as 250 guineas.

Switcheroo

From the Printed Word

ACCORDING to a recent published account, at least two people "pointedly walked out on a luncheon address on Russia" given by Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University. "One of the two or three men, who left noisily just after Dr. James began his address, spoke of not wanting to hear 'all this Communist stuff.'"

It is likely that those who departed read the account of the proceedings, if only to make sure they got a fair shake in the news.

If they saw the summary of what Dr. James said they may have wished they had stayed to get all the details, as the main point appears to have been that the Russian success in industry and the production of food and consumer goods was being brought about, not through an adherence to Communist theory, but by educating their most able young folk and offering them personal incentives "on a scale that certainly would not be tolerated by labor unions in the West." The Russians were relying on "purely capitalistic motivation" to get high rates of production from their people.

Dr. James said that the idea of extra reward for extra skill and effort was "a frank expression of an idea, once common here," and that in Russian thinking and motivation today "communism is not a basic factor."

Among the charming features of being alive are the peculiar switches that appear. Loyal Canadians walk out on a speech that turns out to be eminently loyal, frighteningly so. And it appears that Russia is getting ahead by abandoning communism, while Canada, the U.S. and Western European countries are losing in the race because they have given up some of the most useful aspects of capitalism.

A New Era Coming?

NEW YORK—The cold war may be changing into a hot peace.

This is the opinion, expressed in various ways, which I elicited from a cross-section of UN diplomats and secretariat members commenting on the Khrushchev-Eisenhower visits.

It wasn't easy to extract opinions because these men are cautious through training and through wisdom gained from many disappointments. It required numerous telephone calls but the result was a series of cautious, qualified statements saying in so many words, "We may be entering a new era."

An Asian put it this way: "The two super powers have expanded about as far as they can go. It doesn't seem likely that the Russians will try to go farther for two reasons—they face possible destruction and, perhaps more important, they're having lots of trouble holding what they have now."

"It seemed for a time that they had ambitions in the Middle East but the failure of the Communists in Iraq may have killed them."

"As far as the Americans are concerned, they're having great difficulty holding their military system together—why even you Canadians are talking of becoming neutralists. And of course the Americans now face utter destruction in war, a sobering fact, don't you think? Finally, the Americans are not a military people. If they think there is no further threat from the Russians, they will go home very quickly. They might even go home too quickly as they did twice before."

Another diplomat put it this way:

"This cold war is insane. Everyone's been saying so for years but no one was quite sure that the other fellow really meant it. Now, as a result of face-to-face meetings, I think that both sides are coming to believe that perhaps the other is sincere."

Another commented on the centuries-old efforts of the Russians to overtake their

Western neighbors. Several times, under the czars, they almost succeeded but were cheated by technological advances in the West. On one occasion it was the Western introduction of artillery which defeated them. The Russians then began to concentrate on artillery and "ever since have been known as artillerymen."

"Now the Russians have been cheated by the nuclear bomb. Once again they have gone to work to obtain this weapon and, now that they have it, they find that they can't use it," said my companion.

He suggested that the Russians have been cheated in several other ways during the past 40 years.

"First they were cheated when the workers of the world refused to rebel following the 1917 revolution. Then the capitalists failed to destroy themselves in warfare and, after that, their economies refused to collapse. The realization that, even when the benefits of Communism are brought in by the Red army, the people still can't be trusted."

"So now," he said, "Mr. Khrushchev has decided that Communism is to be spread as a result of technological example. Life in the Socialist camp will become so wonderful that all nations will want to copy it."

"Perhaps Mr. Khrushchev is right," he continued. "Perhaps our grandchildren will be Communists—but I have a feeling that, once again, the poor Russians are in for a disappointment."

A member of the secretariat suggested that the biggest disappointment in store for the Russians, and for the other Western nations, is the realization that the world is coming into an era of international democracy.

"Our own societies are no longer dominated by the aristocracy. International society will soon no longer be dominated by the white aristocracy."

"Among other things, this will mean," he said, "that 600 million Chinese will not be dominated by 200 million Russians."

It could mean the "beginning of a new era" but, as all my informants emphasized in one way or another, "this is mere speculation."

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Britain's One-Hit Wonders

LONDON — Kenneth Allsop, a respected commentator on the world of books and the theatre, puts an interesting question:

Does success come too easily for the word-spinners in the Britain of today? He asks this as a result of the fiasco of the Osborne musical, Paul Slickey, turned out to be.

"Far more fascinating than the case of John Osborne alone," Allsop writes in The Daily Mail, "is the whole curious disease of elephantiasis of the reputation that has become epidemic in postwar Britain. In this time of one-hit wonders—the novel, the play that catapults its better into instantaneous renown and fortune—it is interesting to speculate how many flops these rather flimsy famous figures can survive."

He lists what he terms "the jackpot brigade": John Osborne, hailed as the welcome assassin of worn-out nobby-pamby drawing room drama, now presenting the public with a juvenile, amateurish musical.

Kingsley Amis, lauded to the skies as the pioneer of a new style of British writing on publication of his Lucky Jim in 1954, turned out as his most recent offering a "travelogue type book that was a sad affair."

Colin Wilson leading to international fame with his book, The Outsider, in 1956, following it with another book that has deservedly been forgotten and with plays that nobody wants to produce, and now in some sort of retirement in a cottage in Cornwall.

John Braine hitting the jackpot with his Room at the Top in 1957, his first and only book—and no sign of another from him in the near future.

Shelagh Delaney becoming an overnight celebrity with her play, A Taste of Honey, at the beginning of this year and the only news of her lately has not been connected with new writing from her but concerns her liking for hobnobbing with razor-slashing experts in seamy Soho.

Anyone interested in what's being written here can't help but compare Allsop's Jackpot Brigade with the famous names of pre-war days; writers who earned their reputations the hard way. Readily they come to mind—Somerset Maugham, James Barrie, Evelyn Waugh, J. B. Priestley, H. G. Wells, Bernard Shaw, Noel Coward, A. J. Cronin. They can be reeled off literally by the dozen.

KHRUSHCHEV TO SPEAK BEFORE UN ASSEMBLY

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A UN official said Tuesday night Soviet Premier Khrushchev probably will address the 82-nation General Assembly the week of Sept. 20. The official said Khrushchev had accepted an invitation from Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to visit the UN on his stay in the United States.

Russians Ready To Ban A-Tests

LONDON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says the Soviet Union is ready to sign an agreement for the immediate discontinuation of nuclear tests.

He said so in a letter dated Aug. 5 to a British scientist. It was published in Moscow Tuesday and broadcast by Moscow Radio.

Thus, for the second day in a row, the Soviet premier took a hand in the three-power talks on banning tests now going on in Geneva.

Khrushchev made his declaration in a letter to Prof. Cecil Frank Powell, president of the World Federation of Scientific Workers. Powell, a professor at Bristol University, won the Nobel Prize for physics in 1950.

The letter was in reply to a memorandum from the federation signed by 18 scientists from France, Britain, India, Japan, Communist China and other countries.

The Soviet leader claimed that a little progress has been made at Geneva because of Soviet initiative, but said the main difficulties there have not yet been overcome. Britain and the United States would have to "co-operate" in order to achieve complete success at Geneva.

In a letter to Canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral, released Monday, Khrushchev pledged that the Soviet Union would not be the first power to resume testing.

OIL AND GAS DISCOVERED IN SIBERIA

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet geologists say they have made their first discoveries of oil and gas deposits in Siberia.

Andrei Trofimuk of the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences wrote in Pravda today that the deposits show great potentialities. The biggest finds were in the West Siberian depression, the Hatang Basin and the Lena Bend.

Trofimuk wrote that the Siberian regions where oil and gas are believed to occur, exclusive of the Far East, total more than 2,000,000 square miles.

Fraud Admitted By Car Salesmen

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—A used car company and two of its salesmen pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to 18 charges of conspiracy and fraud in their dealings with the public.

The prosecution told the court the company and the salesmen charged used a host of ideas to defraud customers and in the end had them sign so many papers they became confused.

Magistrate Oscar Orr remanded the salesmen, Joseph Edward Hargitt and Walter George Murwick, one week in custody pending a full report on the operation of their company, Stonehouse Motors Limited.

Prosecutor Al Mackoff told the court that the company and its two salesmen had conspired to deceive and defraud the public by false advertising, switching contracts, using blank contracts, misrepresenting the age of cars and making customers sign different papers over again.

ARSON DISCOUNTED

VANCOUVER—Fire department investigators said Tuesday a carelessly discarded match or a cigarette apparently set off a blaze which killed two elderly Chinese men last week.

The investigators reached this conclusion after abandoning an earlier theory that the blaze might have been deliberately set.

SETBACK FOR CBT

VANCOUVER—A group of freight truck line employees have applied to the British Columbia Labor Relations Board to have the Canadian Transport and General Workers (CLC) decertified as their bargaining agent.

The move was a setback to the brotherhood which has been involved in a jurisdictional dispute with the International Union on the waterfront here.

A group of employees of the OK Valley Freight Lines, a CPR subsidiary which operates in the Okanagan Valley and Kootenays to prairie points, is seeking the decertification.

APPLE CROP DOWN

KELOWNA — The orchardists of the Okanagan Valley are having seasonal worries, such as a decrease of 30 per cent in the apple crop, and how to get rid of the crop that's expected.

But their marketing agency is optimistic.

Latest figures indicate some 4293,000 boxes of apples are

Funeral Friday For Pioneer Seal Hunter

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Chaplin's funeral home for George Wellington Cessford, pioneer Victorian and former well-known seal hunter who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Tuesday. He was 87.

Born in New Brunswick, Mr. Cessford came to Victoria when he was three years old. His father worked in a tannery on what is now the grounds of Royal Roads, and George at 11 often watched square riggers riding out storms near the place where his father worked.

In 1899 he went to sea as a cabin boy on the schooner Ariel for $8 a month and eventually became one of the famous Bering Sea seal hunters mentioned in Jack London's novel, "Seawolf."

Before he died, Mr. Cessford often recalled run-ins with Russian patrols off Copper Island, or fleeing the guns of U.S. boats maintaining a 60-mile prohibited area near Alaska.

He left the work in 1905 and returned to Victoria to take up carpentry until he retired 14 years ago. He is survived by the widow Nellie, at home at 43 Hibberson Crescent.

'GREATEST DECADE' UNDER WAY

All departments of government are preparing 10-year plans of accelerated development, Premier Bennett said Tuesday.

He said the government is "preparing for B.C.'s greatest decade," and this would be possible because of the new "debt-free" status.

And despite doubts of some B.C. sources that the government was actually free of debt, the Financial Times of Montreal said the government is right in declaring itself free of direct debt, despite almost $500,000,000 in contingent debt, including $43,000,000 owed for school construction.

LACK OF ENTHUSIASM

Northern Offer May Be Shelved

The B.C. government will withdraw its offer to take over part of the Northwest Territories if the federal government is not more enthusiastic, Premier Bennett indicated Tuesday.

The premier said earlier that B.C. would maintain 600 miles of the Alaska Highway in return for NWT regions lying north of the province.

Sharks have one to four rows of teeth in actual use and another two to seven rows in reserve. If one tooth is lost, a reserve takes its place in less than a week.

Defence Minister George Pearkes said the federal cabinet must have more details before the matter could be considered.

The northern areas have huge undeveloped potentials in oil and gas and power, and if joined to B.C. would make this the largest province in Canada.

The premier said, "In discussion with Mr. Pearkes, I made a very generous offer to the federal government to help them out of their difficulties. B.C. is not pushing it. If the federal government is not in favor, we will withdraw our offer."

CITY HALL REPORT DUE SOON

Acquisition of a new city hall will be recommended in a report by city officials expected to go before city council next month.

Although city comptroller Dennis Young, Tuesday, would not divulge contents of the report, he indicated that a relatively light load on taxpayers could be devised for the project.

The study was ordered by city council following a proposal by Dominion Construction Co. of Vancouver to build a nine-storey city hall at Courtenay and Blanshard for $1,800,000 under a lease-purchase agreement. The study will cover this proposal and all "other ideas" for a new city hall.

Shelbourne School Called 'Hazardous'

Greater Victoria school board was criticized at a Saanich public works committee Tuesday for erecting a school on "an improper and hazardous site" for children.

Criticism came from Reeve George Chatterton after the committee heard a petition from parents asking for a sidewalk for Shelbourne Elementary School.

The petition said the road is barely wide enough for two cars to pass. It was not safe for children to walk to school. It asked for a sidewalk on the side of Gordon Head Road, between Cedar Hill and Ruby Road.

The reeve said the location of the school was a good example of improper planning. "The school board should have seen the difficulties that would arise," he said.

He noted that since the school was constructed, Saanich council amended its by-laws so all sites for future schools must be approved by council.

The committee decided to ask Oak Bay Council to share half the cost of installing a sidewalk on one side of the road.

Gallery Work Starts

Work on the $30,000 Ker Memorial wing of the Art Gallery started Monday and is expected to be completed by late November, the contractor, M. P. Paine, said Tuesday.

UN Observers for Laos?

Victoria Daily Times 7
WED., AUG. 12, 1959

QUEEN NAMES FIRST NEGRO TO COUNCIL

BALMORAL CASTLE, Scotland (Reuters)—The Queen today appointed Ghana Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah as the first Negro member of the Privy Council.

The Privy Council is a body of statesmen and other public figures appointed by the Queen to advise her on high constitutional matters.

Nkrumah was the Queen's overnight guest at the castle, where the monarch is vacationing, after flying from London Tuesday.

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — Laotian Foreign Minister Khamphan Panya said today Laos will ask for United Nations observers to be sent to its northeast provinces if the situation there becomes more serious.

The government has accused Communist North Viet Nam of aiding pro-Communist Laotian rebels involved in renewed fighting in northeast Laos late last month.

The foreign minister told a press conference his government is studying a British proposal that UN observers be sent to report on the situation in Laos.

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Communist China today called for the withdrawal of all American "military personnel and arms and ammunition" from Laos.

Oil now lures more prospectors to Alaska than gold, and some isolated camps get supplies by helicopter.

4-H Clubs Hold Competitions

The annual provincial elimination competitions to select 14 delegates to the National 4-H Club Week will be held at the University of British Columbia on Aug. 20, 21 and 22.

More than 12 members from Saanich will compete. The competitions will be under the supervision of Miss Echo Lidster, supervisor of 4-H Clubs, department of agriculture, assisted by staff members of the department.

Suspended Sentence On Vandalism Charge

Gerald James Hawes, 21, of 2665 Belmont, was put on $500 good behavior bond for one year when sentence for acts of "senseless, stupid vandalism" was suspended in Oak Bay and Saanich police courts Tuesday.

Hawes was charged after a spree of wilful damage in the Saanich Panhandle-Carnarvon Park area on the Oak Bay-Saanich boundary.

He was ordered to make a total $40 restitution for damage to gardens and property and theft of a sprinkler and pair of shoes.

Magistrate William Ostler described his behavior as "acts of senseless, stupid vandalism . . . completely indefensible for a man of 21."

"It is not bad enough you should do this sort of thing yourself; you were accompanied by two juveniles, getting them into trouble, too."

He considered Hawes spent 15 days in jail awaiting hearing, probation report and sentence, and the fact that amounts involved were small. There were two theft charges and six wilful damage charges in Saanich court, one wilful damage charge in Oak Bay court.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The financiers of the fight racket are unscarred by their occupation. Only the pug is expected to bleed. Managers aren't maimed. Trainers never dance the fighter's shuffle to Chinese music playing in their minds for them alone. Matchmaker's aren't blinded by blows. The faces of boxing commissioners aren't crushed by force. The trade of sports journalism doesn't break the nose or bloat the ears. Promoters are never punched into madness.

The fighter is the victim of the filthiest sport allowed in this country. They suffer in public for money and their popularity is often based on their ability to accept disfigurement. In the age of television their rewards are small. Only a few make a living.

The pug is controlled by unprincipled men, is educated young in deceit. The ethics governing the profession would shame many an agent for a stable of street walkers. Honor is a cheap commodity and it is not an asset in the fight racket. But the racket has endured, despite the evil men who run it, because of the unpolluted dream of the pugs. They alone think this cruel business is a sport.

The promoters of the Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson fight must explain their complicated and surreptitious negotiations to the district attorney. But it has been made very clear by Frank Hogan that the fighters are not suspected of any crime. Their night's work last month was as pure as a sporting event should be.

This is the way it is most of the time. There are tank men, of course, who got off the raft on schedule for a fee. There have been laydowns and holdbacks as long as a buck could be made.

All pugs aren't honest and all managers aren't crooks. But even the most cynical pug feels disgraced if he is in a fixed fight. The manager who puts one over considers it a legitimate act as long as he doesn't get caught.

It is the custom of managers to swindle their fighters. The fight manager is legally allowed to take a third of his pug's earnings. The cut is generally half and they take more with larcenous expense accounts. It is the accepted theory in the fight racket that Cus D'Amato has been generous with Patterson.

Has Anyone Seen the Books Lately?

It is the claim of his intimates that he often shorts himself and picks up tabs which he could charge off as legitimate expenditures in the interest of his fighter. They tell me Patterson is wealthy and Cus The Mus owes money. I wouldn't know about that because I haven't seen the books but The Mus has a reputation among his kind for being dumb about getting his end.

The district attorney will decide whether The Mus should be crying Bill Rosenzohn out of the firm that promoted the Patterson-Johansson fight by using Vincent J. Velella, an East Harlem politician, as a front. But there is no doubt that he will control the next stooge to succeed Crying Bill. The Mus intends to run the show as he did every promotion ever since he broke with Jim Norris.

I called Irving Kahn, a fat man, who is so obese he needs two titles, the president and chairman of the board of TelePrompTer. I asked him who would move into Crying Bill's spot.

"I don't know," he said. "But you'd be doing me a favor if you suggested someone."

"Jack Hurley," I said because I respect the old manager of Billy Petrolle, who was the salaried promoter of the Patterson-Pete Rademacher fight and also Rosenzohn's assistant for Patterson-Roy Harris.

"Not him," said Kahn.

"Why not," I asked but I know The Mus now considers him an enemy.

"It has to be someone who can sit in a room with Cus," he said.

There it was. The promoter must be subservient to The Mus. It has always been that way since Patterson won the championship. He even took Tommy Loughran, one of his cronies, to Seattle to referee the fight with Rademacher.

Ingo Can Tell You All About It

It is up to Eddie Ahlqvist, who does Johansson's business, to protect his fighter. It was part of The Mus' pitch to denounce Norris because he used fighters he has tied up. The house fighter has been Patterson in every arena he has fought. The promotion was dominated by The Mus. No one knows more about The Mus' methods than Johansson.

He was forced by The Mus to accept Harry Davidow, a lunch room proprietor, a man he had never seen before, as a 10 per cent manager. The place man is an old associate of The Mus who managed a couple of fighters with him. The New York State Athletic Commission permitted The Mus to work as a licensed manager after he put the arm on Johansson. He should have been run out of the fight racket. But they gave him a pass. Why?

The Mus treats boxing commissions with the same contempt with which he regards boxing commissions. And he has been getting away with it for a long time.

Ingemar May Pass Up Title Fight This Year

GOTEBORG, Sweden (UPI)—Edwin Ahlqvist, Ingemar Johansson's adviser, said today the champion's return heavyweight title fight with Floyd Patterson might not take place this year.

But Ahlqvist emphasized that Patterson, whom he described as a "unique phenomenon" in United States boxing circles, definitely would get the first crack at Johansson's title. Johansson won the title from Patterson June 26 and their contracts call for a return bout within 90 days.

But both Ahlqvist and Johansson have stated the investigation into the promotional phases of the June fight must be finished before negotiations begin for a return fight.

"Floyd Patterson is a unique phenomenon in American fighting business," Ahlqvist said. "He is fair. Almost all the others obviously are underworld people."

BILLY WAS MORE CAREFUL

You can't win arguments with umpires, but torrid National League pennant race has pilots of leading clubs giving it a good try. San Francisco manager Billy Rigney bends forward to plead case to first-base umpire Al Barlick after failing to get favorable reception from plate umpire on first-inning protest. Rigney cooled off in time but Milwaukee manager

Fred Haney wasn't as lucky in his seventh-inning beef over called strike and umpire Kenny Burkhardt makes appropriate gesture toward showers to tell Fred he's through for day. League-leading Giants clipped St. Louis, 5-4, Tuesday, but Braves split twin-bill at Cincinnati to slip three-and-one-half games off pace. (AP Wirephoto.)

Lucky 25 Can Still Fish Sunday

Twenty-five district anglers are back in business today. Knocked off the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby when salmon that they weighed in were too small, they never did make the grade during the regular qualifying weeks.

But, because 25 rungholders failed to pick up tickets for Sunday's fishoff, those who just missed qualifying are now eligible to buy tickets for the big day.

All tickets must be claimed by Saturday. They may be purchased at Wilson & Lenfesty, 1225 Government Street. Those eligible to pick up tickets are:

Some of the Yankee players even were talking about the "anniversary" commemorating the start of the Giants' 1951 miracle pennant drive. It was just eight years ago today that the Giants, 13 games back, began a 16-game winning streak and subsequently won the pennant in a playoff with the Dodgers.

TOADS BEFORE WICKET DELAYED THE CRICKET

INSTOW, Eng. (UPI)—The North Devon-Free Forester cricket match had to be delayed Tuesday when thousands of toads took over the field. The toads arrived after a heavy rain, and the cricket match was resumed only after they hopped away. Some of them even broke all customs of British courtesy by hopping uninvited into the bar near the cricket pitch.

TUGS TIE 'B' SERIES

Irish Goal Spree Wrecks Ramblers

The Vancouver Island junior lacrosse playoffs are all over, but the battle is going down to the wire in the Senior "B" series.

Victoria Shamrocks won their best-of-three junior series in straight sets following their 16-9 win over Nanaimo Ramblers at Memorial Arena Tuesday.

The Irish won the first game at Nanaimo, 11-8. The plot became more exciting Tuesday, however, as Foul Bay Tugmen evened the best-of-three series with a 4-3 win over Jokers at Stevenson Park.

Deciding game will be played Thursday at Stevenson Park, starting at 6:30 p.m. Shamrocks scored nine straight goals to break a 7-7 tie in the final quarter. Top marksman for the Rocks was diminutive Tom Wyatt, who scored five goals. Lonnie Restall pulled the trigger four times and Bill Wilson fired three goals.

Bob Jones, with two tallies, Ron Marshall and Fred Wright rounded out Victoria's scoring.

Don Morelli led the Ramblers with four goals and Don Clark got two. Al Fearon, Murray Thomas and Ken Blasutig each got one. Shamrocks will host New Westminster Monday at Memorial Arena in the first game of a best-of-three provincial junior championships. Second game is slated for New Westminster, Aug. 21. If necessary, the third game will be played Aug. 22 in the Royal City.

SIX STRAIGHT FOR NEW YORK

Detroit Tigers routed Chicago White Sox, 8-1, and Kansas City Athletics ended a seven-game losing streak by defeating the Cleveland Indians, 7-3, in the only other scheduled AL games. The "Willies" did it again for the Giants, who widened their National League lead to three games with a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in 10 innings. Chicago Cubs beat the second-place Dodgers, 5-4, in 10 innings; Milwaukee

Rocks Expect To End Doubt Here Tonight

Need One Win Over O'Keefes To Cinch Spot

Internal strife appears to have wrecked Nanaimo's chances of grabbing the last of three Intercity Lacrosse League playoff positions, but Victoria Shamrocks don't intend to take any chances.

The floundering Labatts, going with a club that was missing a flock of regulars, stayed one point behind the Rocks when they took an 18-6 trouncing from Carlings at Kerrisdale Arena Tuesday night.

Appearing completely demoralized for the second straight game, Labs will have to come up with a tremendous improvement if they expect to win their final game of the regular schedule—against Carlings at Nanaimo Saturday.

MAY BE TOO LATE

By then it may be too late, since Shamrocks can wrap up the third playoff berth by taking one of two games with New Westminster O'Keefes. They tackle the Canadian champions at Memorial Arena tonight and wind up their portion of the league schedule at New Westminster Thursday.

"Anything can happen in lacrosse," said Shamrock coach Norm Baker, "and Nanaimo may be all straightened out by Saturday. Our boys are up for this one and we expect to end any doubt tonight."

Baker will stick with the same Irish lineup that produced two victories over Labatts last week and tumbled the Nanaimo crew into the league cellar.

ANNUAL AWARDS

Blanked for the first two periods Tuesday night, Labatts were never in contention. Going with 11 players, in addition to two rookie goalies, Labatts were trailing, 8-0, at halftime and were outscored in each of the two final quarters.

Bob Parry scored three times and seven Vancouver players notched two goals in the romp over Labatts.

In addition to the Shamrock bid to clinch third place, extra interest in tonight's battle will be generated by the efforts of O'Keefes' Jack Bionda to increase his record scoring total and presentation of annual Shamrocks' awards.

Slated to be presented at halftime tonight are four Victoria awards—the George Blackstock Memorial Trophy, for the team's most valuable player; the Birks Award, for the most popular player; the Laurie Dillabough Memorial Trophy, for the player best combining sportsmanship and inspiration to the Shamrocks; and the new Peeewe Bradshaw Memorial Trophy, for the club's outstanding rookie.

Meet Capt. Bligh

NEW YORK (AP) — Khrushchev has relaxed the Iron Curtain — but not Harry Hopman, the whip-snapping Captain Bligh of Australian tennis.

At 52, Hopman has mellowed little. He still is the grim disciplinarian. He barks, his players jump. His proteges have about as much freedom as a chain gang.

An icy barrier continues to exist between reporters and the Australian Davis Cup captain, a working journalist himself. Hopman talks to the press as little as possible. When he does talk, he often says nothing.

NOT JUST A GAME

The court strategist from down-under doesn't accept tennis as a game of men in short pants. To him it is the summit conference and the atom bomb, something to be handled in cloak and dagger secrecy.

In Montreal recently, during the Canadian matches, an Australian reporter asked Bob Mark, a member of the team, if he was disappointed at not being named on the squad.

"Yes, I am," replied Mark. Hopman learned of the incident. He dressed down the reporter for subjecting one of his players to an interview against regulations. He promptly lodged Mark in the Hopman doghouse.

Hopman, remarked one pundit, has a bigger doghouse than the Westminster Kennels. Another reporter earned his niche in it by approaching Hopman after the opening match against Italy last Friday in Philadelphia.

"I thought Bob Laver played well, didn't you?" the reporter said.

NO PRESS CONFERENCE

"I am not having a press conference until the end of the day," the Australian replied coldly.

The reporter, who was making only polite conversation, gulped and beat a retreat, shaking his head. On another occasion in Philadelphia some members of the team, waiting to go to the courts, joined a group of writers sitting in the lobby. Conversation was strictly small-talk.

Hopman strode by and went out the door, giving no signal and not even speaking. His chagrin was obvious.

The players quickly grabbed their equipment and followed. They had committed a cardinal offence.

One Side Offers Stiff Argument

The Section Two Senior Open Softball League play-off is progressing almost as expected, but those are dandy Section One series they're having!

In Monday's Section One playoff encounter, Gorge Hotel had to go 10 innings to edge Navy, 3-2. On Tuesday, Morrisons and Mayo battled to an 8-8 draw in a game at Central Park called by darkness.

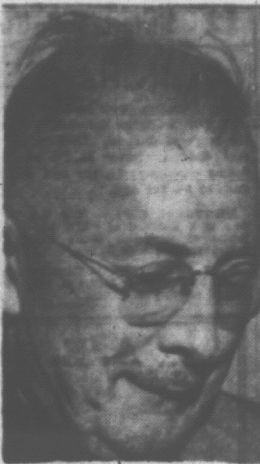

Maycock Optical, meanwhile, grabbed a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven Section Two playoff with MacNuts by exterminating the Grocers, 15-1, at Heywood Avenue Park.

ROSE ROUTED

Starter Larry Rose, the hard-luck loser of Sunday's first game, was knocked off the MacNutt mound in the fourth inning when 12 runs had been scored, including an eight in the second frame. Rose received shoddy help from his teammates, who committed 10 errors.

Home runs were the big factor in the double elimination playoff at Central Park. Morrisons were leading 7-4 when Dennis Stubbs hoisted one over the left field fence for a grand-slam homer that put Duncan ahead 8-7 in the seventh inning. Morrisons' Rod Sullivan came right back in the next frame, smashed a homer over the right field fence to tie the game.

There's more playoff action coming up Thursday. Six Mile House and Tudor House, who

Ray Didn't Shine Before Home Folks

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Flyers' hockey club has traded Ray Kinasewich to Hershey Bears of the American League for former Flyer rightwinger Leonard Haley.

Manager Bud Poile said "obviously Kinasewich plays better hockey away from home." In two years in Seattle he scored 86 goals while last year he slipped to 16 goals in the season.

Handicapping Difficult Task

Victoria Pair Still in Running For Northwest Seniors' Crown

Predicting a winner becomes almost a guessing game when the field is loaded with "class entries."

That's the way it has been in the 37th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament, but handicapping the field may be a slightly easier task by the time the betting boys get around to scanning the form charts tonight.

At least it will be easier than it was Tuesday night, when the locker room "experts" were trying to figure the outcome of a match between a pair of former champions.

KEY MATCH

A lot of them figured that today's quarterfinal clash between defending champion Edgar Eisenhower and Bill Blakely of Portland, the 1957 titleholder, would be a good bet to take it all.

Medalist Tom Green of Seattle and two other former champions — Dr. Oscar Willing and Roger Peck, both of Portland — must still be reckoned with, but the Eisenhower-Blakely battle was the object of most attention at Victoria Golf Club today. It was "the big one" of this year's tournament.

All former champions with the exception of Peck had tight fits squeezing into today's second round.

McCOOY OUT

Peck knocked out a Victoria hope, Col. Larry McCooey, 5 and 4. The other former champs had their hands full on Tuesday, however.

Dr. Willing, 1954 champ, had to go to the 19th before winning over Trail's Pete McIntyre, a southpaw whose 1955 victory marked the only Canadian triumph in the past 15 years. Dr. Willing advanced by posting a par on the extra hole while McIntyre took a bogey.

Green downed G. E. Wilson, 2 and 1; Eisenhower disposed of Seattle's M. B. Marsh, one up, and Blakely beat Dr. W. C. Cameron, 2 and 1.

Only two Canadian candidates, both from Victoria, survived Tuesday's opening round. Harold Lineham defeated Vancouver's Jack Edgell, 2 up, while southpaw George Sparling trounced Seattle's G. S. Douglas, 6 and 5.

F. (Forey) Watson, a "dark-horse" entry from Seattle, completed the eights by tripping Eugene Bowman of Welches, Ore., 5 and 4. Semifinals will be played Thursday and finals in all flights are carded for Friday.

Stars Came Close To Earning Draw

The touring Marylebone Cricket Club, which meets Victoria All-Stars at Beacon Hill next Sunday, extended its undefeated Canadian tour record Tuesday by defeating Ontario All-Stars by 83 runs at St. Catharines.

Ontario, which had dismissed the tourists for 195 runs, had a fighting chance for a draw, but hopes were ended seven minutes from time when Brian Christen was stumped. The Stars had scored 112 before their last wicket fell.

SILK SCORES 60

MCC captain Dennis Silk, coming on with five wickets down, paced the visiting batsmen as he scored 60 runs, not out. Other leading MCC batsmen were David Green with 38 runs, Bob Barber 19, and Ian Bedford and John Thompson each with 13.

Arnold Wight with 29 runs was the top All-Stars batsman, while Vic Walker and Doug Beckford each had 23 and Norman Lee got 13.

Davidson Stars As Tigers Roar

Jim Davidson stole the scoring spotlight in a peewee division Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association game at Stevenson Park Tuesday by firing five goals to lead Saanich Tigers to a 13-4 win over Victoria City. Wayne Cannon pierced the City nets three times.

Dawson Climbs Into Top Spot

Dave Dawson did it. After weeks of winning, the youthful Dawson finally reached the top rung in the Victoria Chess Club's red division last week by defeating C. Birch, former top rung-holder.

HERE COMES GLOUCESTER

HYPNOTIZED, YET!

Look Out Division I!

GLOUCESTER, England, (UPI)—"Few fans recognize the local soccer team these days since the team's resident hypnotist has begun convincing it is the best team in the league."

Gloucester City finished 13th in the league last year so it signed up hypnotist Henry Blythe, 65, as an "amateur player" to convince the players they can beat anybody.

The soccer season opens in two weeks but already Blythe's efforts are making themselves felt in scrimmages. His method is to line up the players in the public stand and put them to sleep.

"When you wake up you are going to feel bursting with energy," he told them at scrimmage. "You will be able to play with every ounce of skill at our command. You are going to make Gloucester City respected all over the country."

When he woke them up the team members bounded onto the field for an inter-squad game. In 15 minutes one forward put a phenomenal four shots into the goal and announced: "I feel great."

Club director Bernard Gale said, "We hope Blythe will be able to use his powers to make the team play with such verve and skill that we will get into a higher division."

Six Months' Jail Term For Car Theft

(From Duncan Bureau)
DUNCAN—Danny Thomas was sentenced Tuesday to six months in prison after he pleaded guilty before Magistrate A. C. Sutton to a charge of stealing an automobile.
He had been stopped by RCMP on Indian Road at 3.15 a.m. Aug. 9 because of a defective headlight. The court heard how Thomas had fled in the stolen vehicle, with the 65-mile-per-hour chase proceeding through a flashing red light at the intersection of Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.
When the RCMP caught up to his vehicle, he fled on foot through the bush.

British Columbia's fishing fleet is reporting excellent catches of salmon after returning to work following a two-week strike.
James Sinclair, president of the Fisheries Association of B.C., said Tuesday night in Vancouver "very good" catches were reported from boats fishing in the Skeena and Nass Rivers on the north coast, on the west coast of Vancouver Island and in the Fraser River.
Fishing off the central coast, however, was "not so good."

SEATTLE (AP)—American and Canadian sockeye salmon fishermen in all waters covered by the International Five thousand salmon fishermen and 4,000 tendermen and shoreworkers returned to work this week after accepting a strike settlement offer by the association. The settlement gives the fishermen slightly higher prices for fish and the other workers wage increases ranging up to 17c an hour over two years.

Scholarship Winner

CAMPBELL RIVER—Winner of the annual $2,000 Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited scholarship for a local student aiming at a teaching career is Sharon Brown, Campbell River High School's "best student of the year."
President of the school scholarship club and interested in classical and modern dancing, she represented her school in the "Rotary Adventure in Citizenship" in Ottawa last year.

Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission Tuesday were authorized to engage in an extra day of fishing this week.
The commission said purse seine and reef net fishermen will be permitted to fish from 4 a.m. to 8 p.m. in commission-regulated waters Thursday, while gillnetters will be allowed to fish from 6 p.m. Thursday until 8 a.m. Friday.
The commission said it granted the extra time because the sockeye catch had been excellent during the past week and there had been sufficient escapement to permit the extra catch.
American fishermen took an estimated 90,000 sockeye Monday, the commission said, raising the U.S. catch for 1959 to 870,000. The Canadian sockeye fleet, which had been tied up because of the recent strike, took an estimated 210,000 fish Monday, the commission said.

DUNCAN TURNS OUT EN MASSE

Tumultuous Welcome For Little Leaguers

(From Duncan Bureau) champions received a heart-
North Cowichan's west- warming, rousing welcome ern Canadian Little League Tuesday night when they arrived home from Pentton at the head of a 48-car cavalcade.

The 14 players stood before their families and friends at Duncan Pioneer Park to hear the praise and congratulations of Little League officials, Mayor J. T. Dobson representing the city of Duncan, and Coun. Don Morton, representing the municipality of North Cowichan.

Aldermen Steve Saunders, R. K. Cairns, and J. Kerrone also were present in the crowd of 400.

"This is the most wonderful thing ever to happen in our Little League," said Lyle Reid, one of Little League's founders and top supporters.

Mayor Dobson, speaking from a long low-bed truck stage, stated the boys had behaved always "like gentlemen."

MADE HISTORY

"In spite of their tremendous size, they have made history," Mayor Dobson said. He warmly congratulated Jarvis Jickling, Chub Moore, and Roy Hughes, team managers.

Will Cain, vice-president of the Little League Association of B.C., told the supporters that he'd seen every game.

"I have never seen a group of boys play more skillfully," he said, adding that "Penticton took them right to their hearts."

Duncan Auctioneer Forecasts Record Prices for Cattle Sale

(From Duncan Bureau)
DUNCAN—Thomas J. Boyles, Duncan livestock auctioneer, figures that when he auctions a herd of 21 crossed Ayrshire-Holstein cattle owned by Bill Reid, of West Saanich Road, the cattle will bring "record prices."

"Fresh cows are hard to find, and everybody wants them," Mr. Boyles said.

But Farmer Reid doesn't want them. He's set the auction date for Saturday at 1.30 p.m. on his farm near Prospect Lake, Victoria.

"I've been dairy farming for 30 years. Now I'm going to start growing potatoes because you don't have to milk them," Mr. Reid said.

He admits the milk cows he's selling are "good producers."

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Hal March entered the TV quiz show circus by frankly declaring, "It's possible to control quiz programs to a degree."

"I can't believe any contestants were ever given any answers," insisted the most famous of all the quizmasters, "but if Einstein had been alive and his category were physics, we could have come up with a question he couldn't have answered."

"Furthermore, I don't think it's dishonesty," added the man who asked the $64,000 questions for 3½ years. "Suppose," said March, now starring in "Two for the See-saw" and soon to go on tour, "you have a contestant with a very negative personality... the public hates him."

"I think it's all right to try to knock him off."

"You're running your own store. It's the same as a merchant who fires a clerk that the customers don't like."

But some of these unpleasant personalities were just unpleasant enough to keep on winning, March said.

"I remember the producer of our show, Mert Koplin, saying, 'I wish this guy—or that gal—would miss—but they were just too smart... and they didn't.'"

"I can't believe anybody was ever given any answers—because those people weren't good enough actors to carry it off," March said.

"Don't you think we wanted to keep Randolph Churchill on? But he drew a mental blank and won only about $500!"

"They all seemed hard to me," he said. "The first 2½ years I didn't see the questions till we were on the air."

HAL MARCH controlled not rigged.

The last year as they got more and more complicated, I did... just before air time... so I could make them make sense."

Another reason March believes the shows weren't rigged is that bookmakers were betting on contestants.

"And if anybody had known who was going to win, somebody on the show would have wound up wealthy."

"All the same, I think we raised the intelligence standard of the country," March said. "We showed a lot of people that books could be fun."

Hal said he's already "rigged" a good seat on the made-over bus in which he and a dozen others start their tour Sept. 28.

"I insisted on being over the left rear wheel—somebody told me that's the star's prerogative," he said. His wife, Candy, is expecting their second baby (and her fourth) in March.

"Put in a few words for a little girl if you know how to do any rigging," he said, "with the Great Obstetrician in the Sky."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Frank Sinatra rebuked a columnist for writing a wrong about Bob Wagner and Natalie Wood, while breakfasting at Reuben's. "I know these two and it just wasn't true," said Frank. He took his group to see "Gypsy"—then took the star Ethel Merman and Sandra Church to supper at 21... The Jack Raelis are expecting. (He's Patti Page's mgr.)... Bob Feller sold a life insurance policy to his ex-rival Joe DiMaggio... Rocky Marciano'll set up comeback training quarters at Ocala, Fla., next month.

Robt. Q. Lewis says one of Toots Shor's habits were so depressed about the closing they went out and got sober... Edmund Hillary remarked at the Forum he wants to climb Mt. Everest the hard way—from the other side—and has asked the Comies for permission... Danny Stradella of Danny's Hideaway graduates from one line in "Gunhill" to two lines in John Wayne's next movie, "Alamo," to be shot in Bracketville, Tex.

... Jim Mitchum, who's taller than his dad Bob, was at the Harwyn with pretty Molly Bee, the starlet... Martha Hyer'll definitely do a B-way show; has three under consideration. Real interest here, though: a guy.

EARL'S PEARLS: Alex Heller offers this slogan for French designers: "If the dress fits, don't wear it."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Randleader Herb Sherry's description of John: "Fast? They go like money!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A commuter at Walsh's swears he heard a train conductor announce: "Ladies, start looking through your handbags and purses—I'll be back in five minutes to collect tickets."

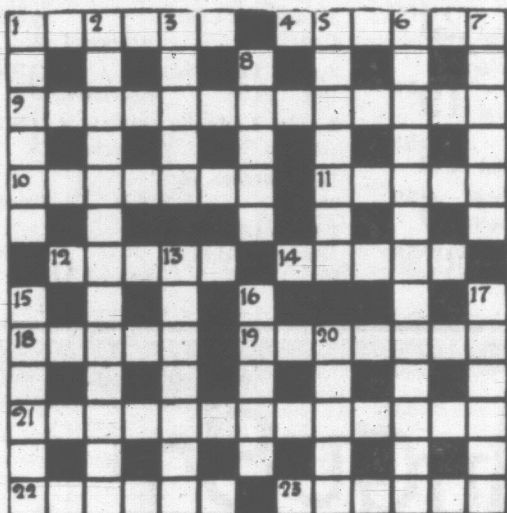

This man told the psychiatrist he couldn't remember anything he said. "How long has this been going on?" asked the psychiatrist. "How long has what been going on?" asked the patient... That's earl, brother.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times. Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Patricia Becker, age 11, of Clearwater, Kansas, for her question:

Is the longest snake a boa? long. The giant snake of the New World is certainly a boa. The anaconda is, in fact, one of the two snakes which can properly be called a Boa-constrictor. The other is a handsome snake who also lives in tropical America. He is famous on two counts. First, many people think he is the biggest snake in the world. Second, he is one of the rare animals commonly known by his scientific name—which is Boa-constrictor. At best, this fellow is only 12 feet long, far shorter than the 30-foot anaconda.

Many people claim that the anaconda, biggest of the boas, is the biggest snake in the world. But they cannot prove it. Certain of the anaconda's Asian cousins have been measured and found to be longer. The largest of them is the reticulate python also known as the royal python. There is good evidence that these big snakes reach a length of 33 to 35 feet.

Biggest Still Hiding

Those who believe that the anaconda is the world's biggest snake say that the entire story is not known. The anaconda lives in dense tropical forests where few people take their tape measures. Perhaps there are still bigger anacondas not yet discovered. Hence we can only say that the royal python is the longest snake so far measured. The big boa anaconda is without question the second longest snake in the world.

In the past, there were snakes larger than either the python or the anaconda. The fossil of a 35-foot snake was found in Patagonia and the fossil of a 50-foot snake was found in Egypt. These snakes lived 60 million years ago, when herds of horses no bigger than spaniels and pony-sized camel ancestors roamed the plains of North America.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Barbara Gibson, age 11, of Marble, N.C., for her question: What are prehistoric animals?

We say that history began soon after man learned to read and write. For one of the first things he did with his new skills was to record what he was doing. He wrote down the history of the world in which he lived. History begins with this on-the-spot recording.

Anything which happened before this time is called pre-history, which means before history. And anything that lived or happened before this time is prehistoric. The prehistoric animals are those which lived during the millions and millions of years before history began.

GAGLARDI ACCEPTS CHALLENGE

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highways Minister Gagliardi said here Monday that he is willing to meet Pat O'Neal, secretary of the British Columbia Federation of Labor, for a debate on the merits of the province's controversial Trade Unions Act.

Mr. O'Neal challenged Mr. Gagliardi at a public meeting here Friday night and again at Clearwater Sunday.

Mr. Gagliardi said he'll meet Mr. O'Neal "before any television camera or radio microphone in Canada." Mr. O'Neal said the meeting must be in a hall which is open to the public.

SEATTLE (AP)—Alaska is the one spot from which the United States could control the world with missiles, but nothing is being done to put them there, Robert H. Atwood said here Tuesday.

Atwood, publisher of The Anchorage Times, urged the building of 1,500-mile range missile bases in Alaska quickly and establishment of 5,000-mile intercontinental missile bases there as the ICBMs become operational.

Atwood said intermediate-range missiles could cover 25 bomber bases the Russians have built in Siberia.

The publisher added that a polar projection shows long-range ICBMs from Alaska could reach everything in Russia and Red China.

Atwood said it would take only two Soviet bombers to immobilize the air force in Alaska.

"Then it would be an easy matter for the Russians to follow up with paratroopers and convert the bases in Alaska to their own use. If that ever happens, President Eisenhower will have to decide whether to bomb Alaska to save Seattle, Chicago and other industrial centres."

Nine Hurt In Head-On Car Accident

NANAIMO—A head-on collision between two heavy cars at Northwest Bay Tuesday sent nine persons to Nanaimo General Hospital for treatment of injuries and shock.

Victims of the 11 a.m. accident were Harold V. Quiring, 55, of 513 Dunsmuir Street, Esquimalt, driver of one car, with a possible fractured arm; his wife, broken jaw and bruises; and their children, aged seven and three, who were bruised. An unidentified neighbor youth suffered minor injuries.

Also hurt were Peter Bitter of Alberni, driver of the other car, who suffered head and chest injuries; his wife, face and leg bruises; and their daughters, both under two years, bruises and shock.

All are in satisfactory condition.

Police said the accident was caused when one car crossed into the opposite lane.

More rice is exported through San Francisco than is grown throughout China.

Ontario Beauties In Contest Wins

HAMILTON (CP)—Two Ontario entrants won first-night preliminary judging at the Miss Canada competition Tuesday night.

Miss Friedel Neumann of Hamilton was awarded the bathing suit trophy.

Anne Marie Clark, Miss Galt, won the talent trophy with an aria from Die Fledermaus.

The two were chosen by seven judges and a first-night audience at the Brant Inn, Burlington.

Ten beauties paraded in white evening gowns. Eleven entrants illustrated their talents, which included piano, singing, taps, ballet and violin.

(Miss Vivi Petersen is representing Victoria in the Miss Canada contest.)

The 23 entrants are divided into groups of around 10 during the preliminaries and judged under four classifications—appearance in bathing suit and evening gown, personality and talent.

On Thursday, semifinalists chosen the two previous nights will face judges for the big test and one of the 23 will receive the crown from last year's Miss Canada, Danica d'Hondt.

Alberta Chases B.C. As No. 3 Province

Population Trend Swings to Prairie

If present trends continue, Alberta will overtake British Columbia in population by about 1976 to become the third largest province in Canada.

At present B.C. is the third largest, next to Ontario, first, and Quebec, second.

Alberta's population increased by 19,000 in the first half of this year from 1,228,000 to 1,247,000.

In the same period, B.C.'s population increased by 11,000 from 1,563,000 to 1,574,000. Similar increases every six months between now and 1976 would raise Alberta's population to around 2,050,000 and B.C.'s to about 2,000,000.

BIRTH RATE
The increases this year are attributed to a rising birth rate in both provinces rather than to immigration.

Canada's population rose by 198,000 from 17,284,000 in January to 17,482,000 on July 1 and is likely to reach the 18,000,000 mark by about September next year, the bureau of statistics in Ottawa reported today.

This included the natural increase—births minus deaths of 177,000, plus the difference between an estimated 55,000 immigrants and 31,000 emigrants.

ANNUAL GAIN
Since July 1, 1958, Canada's population has increased by 397,000 from 17,085,000. Corresponding 12-month gains were 435,000 in 1958, 532,000 in 1957 and 382,000 in 1956.

All provinces reported gains in the first half of this year. Ontario led the way with a six-month rise of 81,000 to 5,968,000 from 5,887,000 at Jan. 1. Quebec followed with a boost of 56,000 to 5,011,000 from 4,955,000.

OTHER PROVINCES
Population of other provinces at July 1, with Jan. 1 estimates in brackets:
Saskatchewan 903,000 (896,000); Manitoba 886,000 (878,000); Nova Scotia 717,000 (715,000); New Brunswick 591,000 (584,000); Newfoundland 449,000 (443,000); and Prince Edward Island 102,000 (101,000).

CLOUDS BLOCK METEOR SHOW; ON TONIGHT

A heavy cloud cover spoiled for Victorians a brilliant meteorite show in the B.C. sky last night, but they still have two evenings to see the celestial display.

Dr. Andrew McKellar, astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, said the display of shooting stars will be on again tonight and Thursday.

Prospects for a clear sky tonight look good. Best time to see the meteorites is between the hours of 9:30 p.m. and 2 a.m.

Driver Licence Reminders To Be Mailed

B.C. drivers will soon get mailed reminders before their five-year driver's licences expire.

The innovation will be part of a complete changeover of the huge departmental filing and mailing system from manual to mechanical methods. The conversion has been under way in varying degrees for almost two years.

Motor Vehicles Branch Superintendent George Lindsay said today the scheme will employ electronics in an effort to speed up and streamline the immense task.

Many drivers have been fined $25 for driving with expired licences since the system of dating licences to the holder's birthday has been in effect.

Eventual Gain For City Seen On House Sale

An immediate loss of approximately $30,000 on seven renovated houses will be offset by long-run gains, a city official said today.

Alfred Joyce, tax collector and land commissioner, said the city-owned houses up for sale at Chambers and Queens probably will sell for a total of $60,000-$65,000.

Purchasing them for the new main firehall site at Camosun and Yates, moving them and renovating have cost the city approximately $93,000.

"Although it seems there will be an immediate loss of some $30,000, the city in the long run will gain considerably," he said. He pointed out that the renovations had increased the expected lifespan of the houses to 50 years.

"The taxes on the houses will be approximately $1,500 annually so that the city can expect about $75,000 in taxes from the houses over the next 50 years," he said.

OFF ROLLS
He pointed out that previous efforts to sell the Chambers and Queens property had been unsuccessful and they had remained off the tax rolls until the city moved the houses there.

"By renovating them, instead of demolishing, the city has uplifted an area that could not be sold before," he said.

Mr. Joyce also pointed out that the city would obtain a 7 per cent interest rate on its investment under terms of agreements for sale to cover the houses.

He said offers to purchase the houses obtained by North-western Securities over the weekend, had not been submitted yet to City Hall.

The city put the houses on a multiple listing with real estate firms at a special 5 per cent rate, 2 per cent lower than normal for the service.

New Generators Go in Service in September

Two new generating stations for the B.C. Power Commission will be officially opened by Premier Bennett on Wednesday, Sept. 2.

They are the Georgia generating stations at Bare Point, opposite Chemainus, and the Ash River station near Alberni.

(publicity), George Gray, T. A. Harvey, and secretary Miss E. G. McGillivray.

Conductor of the Edmonton Symphony Lee Hephner and his wife, pianist Patricia Rolston, have been invited to appear with the symphony orchestra in the fifth pair of concerts Dec. 13 and 14.

Other artists appearing will be Hyman Goodman, violinist, Oct. 4 and 5; Donald Bell, bass-

GLORY BE! A new claim in the book of records is being made for this stubborn member of the worrisome weed world. A Morning Glory vine which has twined almost 25 feet and is still going strong, has fastened itself to electrical wiring on a building at Douglas and Kings Road. (Times Photo.)

MORNING GLORY QUESTION: Persistent Weed Or Pretty Flower?

Morning Glory is one of the most persistent weeds, but the twining plant should be honored by the Victoria Publicity Bureau for hiding some of the city's most unsightly eyesores.

The ivy climber, with its white petal flowers covers discarded debris and rubbish, unsightly fences, dilapidated homes and if given a chance, even telephone poles.

As a persistent and skilled climber it has few peers in the plant world. It will climb up electric wires, neglected clothes line, chimneys and trees.

As a trailer, it covers land where few plants will grow. But where it runs into trouble is in the gardens where it takes root and gives battle to the gardener.

Even in this respect it serves its purpose. It weeds out poor gardeners who have not the stamina to cultivate their garden.

Canned Fish Cases Stolen From Ship

Two cases of canned salmon valued at about $40 were stolen from the hold of the Dutch ship "Akkrumdyk," apparently overnight, city police were told today.

The vessel was loading lumber at Qdgen Point dock when the theft was discovered and reported to local agent George Paulin Ltd.

A padlock was pried from a cargo locker to allow entry to the sealed shipment. Each case of salmon contained 48 tins.

Any questions arising from this article are invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve commercial or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to dealers.

MID-OCTOBER OPENING has been scheduled for a 470-car Hudson's Bay Company "Parkade." Photo shows progress to date, with workmen concentrating on driving piles for the two-level structure behind the department store, laying electrical conduits and completing concrete work. Total cost of the project is expected to reach $500,000 when complete. About 100 cars will be using the new facility by end of August, at Blanshard Street side; and about 200 cars by end of September. New direct entrance to second floor of the store will be made at Parkade's upper level. Automatic installations will indicate when all spaces taken.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Walter W. Campbell, 1740 Fort of the fishboat Walbon moored at Fishermen's Wharf, told city police Tuesday someone stole $74 worth of gear and a quantity of groceries from his vessel during the past few days.

Missing items included a $65 transistor radio in leather case, 20 pounds of lead weights valued at $2 and a fishing reel worth $7.

Dr. Thelma Arthur, osteopathic physician and surgeon of Monrovia, California, will address a public meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Kirk Hall, 680 Courtney St.

Her subject will be "Chemotherapy and Cancer Research."

Memorial Arena commission has requested city council's permission to buy a $10,000 ice resurfacing machine which it claims will produce "considerable savings" in labor costs, provide better ice conditions and enable the commission to rent the ice rink for longer periods.

Eskimo arts and crafts will be displayed, with pictures of Eskimo life, at a meeting in the boardroom of Victoria Chamber of Commerce on Aug. 28 at 10 a.m.

R. A. Gould of the industrial division, federal department of northern affairs Ottawa, will speak on the promotion of trade with the Eskimos.

A young man who said he had to drive because it was his "hobby" was fined a total of $130 in Esquimalt police court today for driving while under suspension and giving police a false name and address.

Vincent Madsen, 1601 Esquimalt, pleaded guilty to both charges before Magistrate William Ostler, who told him:

"If you persist in your defiance of the law of the land, the only alternative is to put you in prison."

A logger who had a run-in with Fountain Circle was admitted for observation to Jubilee Hospital with face and undetermined abdominal injuries early today.

Joseph Gratz, 27, Camp Six, Ysoubou, was driver of a south-bound car which hit the high north curb of the circle at 3:55 a.m., causing heavy damage to the car.

Police took Gratz to hospital with a cut lip, nose and suspected abdominal injuries. He was in good condition this morning.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Jack Le Roy Klassen, 1023 Mason, $20 for speeding over 20.

Provincial parks authorities today appealed to fishermen and campers using the Buttle Lake area to take along a shovel and bury their waste and garbage.

Concern is felt at the lake-side mess which has become apparent since the public was permitted entry to the area this summer. While the lake-side area is still under control of Elk River Timber Company, the parks department has provided some limited facilities. But no major development such as is common at roadside picnic and camping areas has yet been possible.

The complainant paid the penalty when a charge for false pretences was withdrawn at her request in city police court today.

Mrs. Irene Parisis charged T. E. Kelles, 1160 Oxford, with false pretences involving a cheque for $35, which Mrs. Parisis said had been made good.

Magistrate William Ostler assessed Mrs. Parisis $5 costs and warned her that the court must not be used as a "collection agency" in matters of a criminal nature.

B.C. Orangemen with members of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association will hold a Derry Day celebration with a parade and basket picnic at Nanaimo next Saturday.

The parade will leave the CPR dock in Nanaimo at 11:30 a.m.

FORMER B.C. FINANCE Department employee, R. M. Burns, has been appointed deputy finance minister for Manitoba. Mr. Burns served the B.C. government from 1935 until 1954 when he went to Ottawa as an assistant deputy finance minister in the federal government. A graduate of the commerce course at the University of B.C., he started here as a government statistician and rose through the ranks to assistant deputy minister.

SILVER MEDAL of Royal Conservatory of Music for attaining highest marks in B.C. in Grade 5 speech arts examination will go to Lawrence C. Eastick, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Eastick, 1637 Oak Bay Avenue. Elcution student of Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, he made 86 per cent on examination. In Victoria Music Festival in spring he won $25 bursary for elocution. He has finished his schooling at St. Michael's, and will enter Victoria High School in fall. (Photo by Jorgen Svendsen)

Premier Asks Statement on Strike Fund

Premier Bennett has received a number of letters from wives of striking IWA members stating they need financial aid, he said Tuesday.

He quoted one letter from a Fraser Valley centre, signed by 19 wives who charged their husbands have been unable to obtain aid from the union strike fund, "unless they go and beg for it."

The premier said he hoped "the IWA would issue a statement saying how they are using that fund." He referred to a $2,000,000 strike fund mentioned in one of the letters.

Joe Morris, president of the 26,600-member union which has been on strike for five weeks, replied later to the premier's comment.

"We administer the strike fund according to rules and there should be no one starving or begging," Mr. Morris said.

He said that any one who needs help should write to their local union instead of Premier Bennett.

"We would never deny any union member's family assistance if they could prove they need it. The fund is there for that purpose," Mr. Morris said.

Ocean Tows Threatened By Typhoons

A new hazard in the form of an 80-mile-an-hour typhoon was facing two Victoria tugs today hauling two ex-Liberty ships and a battleship to scrapyards in Japan.

Typhoon "Georgia" was spotted by the U.S. Air Force weather bureau swirling in the Pacific Ocean about 161 miles southeast of Iwo Jima, moving northeasterly at about 17 miles an hour.

"This is dangerously close to Sudbury II," H. B. Elworthy, president of Island Tug and Barge Ltd., said.

The Sudbury II, towing the two Liberties, was reported on the fringe of the typhoon and proceeding practically hove-to at only half-a-knot, he said.

The Cambrian Salvor, hauling the former Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre, was not so close to the storm and making somewhat better progress.

Mr. Elworthy said the Sudbury II hove-to for a while today after battling a 50-mile-an-hour gale Tuesday, "but both tows are still going well ahead and progress hasn't been affected too much."

Centre of typhoon "Georgia" was expected to pass near Iwo Jima early Thursday and be some 200 miles northwest of the city by afternoon. Typhoon "Helen" was in the area a few days ago.

600 RETIRED PERSONS ON SPECIAL NAMES LIST

Unique Door-to-Door Campaign Seeks Members for Symphony Society

The most intensive membership drive in the history of Victoria Symphony Society will get under way next month, conducted on a unique street-by-street basis.

Armed with some 600 names of retired persons, 100 special canvassers will knock on doors every day between Sept. 14 and 21 in time for the season's first concert Oct. 4.

"We're not desperate for members exactly," the so-ciet's membership drive chairman, Arnold Webb, said today, "but we need at least another 400 members if we are ever going to put the symphony on its feet."

"This year we shall concentrate on luring retired people into the society. Many of them are well-to-do and have the time to support these things. Next year we shall approach another segment of the community."

Mr. Webb said the selection of "special names" to be approached during the street canvass next month was "very unusual, but we had to think of something."

He said the society was "just about breaking even financially" but that it was hoped to improve the organization's cash receipts when the present 400-member total was increased.

"We want eventually to get the box office receipts to pay for the society's program," he added.

Mr. Webb said the organization was "quite vigorous" in outlook and not worried by television or any other medium, "but we need to face the realization that lack of support may be due to the fact that we have not done a good job of selling the symphony to the public."

"We hope to correct that situation in the future," he added, "when we have a doubled membership."

Besides Mr. Webb, the membership drive committee consists of society music director Hans Gruber, director Mrs. J. Gillespie, and members Mrs. W. A. McElmoyne, Mrs. Rene Lindgren, Mrs. J. N. Edmison, Mrs. D. K. Laundry (women's president), Cliff Rutledge

(publicity), George Gray, T. A. Harvey, and secretary Miss E. G. McGillivray.

Conductor of the Edmonton Symphony Lee Hephner and his wife, pianist Patricia Rolston, have been invited to appear with the symphony orchestra in the fifth pair of concerts Dec. 13 and 14.

Other artists appearing will be Hyman Goodman, violinist, Oct. 4 and 5; Donald Bell, bassbaritone, Oct. 25 and 26; Sheila Henig, pianist, Nov. 8 and 9; Dr. Boyd Neal, conductor, Jan. 10 and 11.

Lloyd Powell, pianist, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1; Dr. Nicholas Goldschmidt, conductor, Feb. 21 and 22; Hona Kombrink, soprano, March 6 and 7; and Glenn Gould, pianist, March 27 and 28.

Membership in the society ranges from $9 to $20 a year, depending on the membership.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Bicycle Riding Is Fun And Gets You Outdoors

It is surprising that more folks do not ride bicycles. Of course in many countries this is the main form of transportation.

So many men and women give up this pleasant physical exercise from childhood on. This is such a shame for swimming and bicycling are two exercises you can take down the years with you because of their mildness.

The habit of riding a bicycle has many advantages. In the first place it is fun and gets you outdoors. You can cover more territory when riding a bike than when walking. Consistent mild exercise has been recommended for health as well as for figure control.

Overweight is often due largely to physical inactivity. This factor may play almost as important a role as overeating. Exercise helps burn up the calories our food provides. It is possible to eat more and still lose weight, or remain at the same weight when you exercise regularly.

Then, too, bike riding is possible the year round, with the exception of a small percentage of particularly bad weather each year. It firms the legs. Also the correct riding position calls for a flat back and a flat abdomen. It stimulates deep breathing.

Riding your bicycle to a fairly nearby market can make shopping fun, since it combines business with pleasure. It is also an easy way to lug the vegetables home.

The life of most women is sedentary. We ride everywhere and walk as seldom as we possibly can. For this reason any small changes in our way of life which increase our exercise quotient become extremely valuable.

Most women rode a bicycle when they were children. When you learn to ride or swim in early years you never forget how. You can pick either up again at middle age with great profit and enjoyment.

Bike club's have been formed in many parts of the country. These groups enjoy one-day tours to nearby points of interest, overnight and vacation jaunts and family outings. Perhaps you might like to organize a bike club in your community. This, like swimming, is one form of exercise which all generations can enjoy together.

Planked Ham Meal

Canada has awakened to a trend of modern eating—modern in every way with the many convenience foods and new ways to serve them. The ease and quickness of preparation give extra time for a little different way of serving. Especially attractive is a planked meal of ham and green and wax beans with a fluting of instant mashed potatoes.

PLANKED HAM MEAL

One can (1½ lb.) ham, whole cloves, ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 3 cups hot mashed potatoes, 2 cups cut wax beans, 2½ cups cut green beans, 2 tablespoons butter, or margarine, parsley, radishes.

Score ham in diamond shapes and insert cloves. Place ham on rack in shallow pan. Spread with mixture of brown sugar and mustard. Heat in a slow oven (325 degrees) 30 minutes, basting occasionally. Oil and heat plank in oven. Put ham on plank. (A heat-proof platter may be used instead of a plank.) Force potatoes through a tube, or pile with spoon, to make a border around half of plank. Mix cooked wax and green beans and put inside potato border; dot with butter. Put in a hot oven (425 degrees) until potatoes are lightly browned, about 10 minutes. Garnish with parsley and radishes. Six servings.

A modern meal in every respect is this one that includes cooked green and wax beans surrounded by a fluting of instant mashed potatoes, and a small canned ham served on a plank or a heat-proof platter.

Salad Season

Even though salad month has ended, the department of agriculture reminds that in households where sound nutrition is practised, home-grown produce will continue to be featured on most menus. The department advises cutting foods into medium-sized pieces so they keep their identity. Drain all foods well before adding the dressing. Add dressing to green and fruit salads just before serving, but combine dressings with meat, potato and mixed vegetables an hour before serving to allow for a blending of flavors.

Anti-Dowry Act Third Major Step To Give Hindu Women Freedom

NEW DELHI (AP) — As process of social change moves slowly across India, an anti-dowry law awaits action by Parliament. The law would make it a crime either to give or accept dowry in excess of $420. Violators could be fined $1,050 or imprisoned six months or both.

Like other laws seeking to modernize the tradition-ridden Hindu society, the anti-dowry bill has kicked up a fuss throughout India.

The Indian press has been almost unanimous in predicting that little immediate good will come of it. Hindu marriages throughout history have been arranged by agreement between parents, with the father of the bride paying the bill for a "proper" ceremony and handing over a suitable dowry. Without this the wedding cannot be solemnized.

One of India's oldest proverbs runs: "Even a king becomes a pauper if he has more than five daughters."

Conversely, a man with five sons might reasonably expect to become wealthy by virtue of the dowry system.

Millions of Indians, both high and low, began scrimping against the day of marriage the instant a daughter is born. Untold numbers still finish the happy day hopelessly in debt.

Even the maximum dowry suggested in the new bill would mean nearly 10 years of labor for the average Indian father. Infanticide of daughters is one of the nation's most common crimes which may help to explain why men outnumbered women 179,433,840 to 179,149,684 in latest census.

The proposed anti-dowry law would be the government's third major step to lift Hindu women from centuries of subjugation.

The first, three years ago, outlawed polygamy. The second

Teacher, Margaret Young Wed In Saskatoon Church Service

A wedding of interest in teaching circles in the city, took place in St. George's Anglican Church, Saskatoon, last weekend, when Margaret Lyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Y. Young of Saskatoon became the bride of Reginald Frank Rainbow, HMCS Jonquiere, Esquimalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Rainbow of Regina. Bride is a member of the teaching staff at Oaklands School.

Rev. H. W. Brandrick officiated at the evening service and Mrs. E. Hanson sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her gown, of shimmering white taffeta, was fashioned with a wide cowl neckline edged with hand-embroidered lace. Fitted bodice extended on princess lines into a full-length skirt slightly en train. Lace adorned the skirt and edged finger-tip length sleeves. Her headpiece was a double bandeau of nylon net and silk holding a misty illusion veil, worn over her face. She carried a cascade of Shasta daisies.

Mrs. S. Postey was matron of honor wearing a cocktail-length gown of heavenly blue peau de soie crystallette. Her picture hat was in tone. Junior bridesmaids, Hazel Medlyn and Sherry Davis wore identical dresses of powder blue bengaline taffeta with bandeaux of looped ribbon to match their resses. The trio carried similar bouquets of white daisies. Wayne Barber was best man and ushers were Colin Young and Fred Allard.

A wedding cake, flanked by pink and white candles decorated the bridal table at a reception in the parish hall. Frank Davis proposed the toast to the bride.

Later, the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to the Pacific coast and a honeymoon at Sproat Lake. For travelling the bride wore a royal blue worsted suit with white accessories and corsage of white orchids.

Couple will make their home at 1306 Yates Street.

Buttons on Wedding Dress Worn as 'Something Old'

For "something old" shell pearl buttons, which had been on her mother's wedding dress, were embroidered on the gown worn by Miss Mary Gordon Miller for her marriage in Centennial United Church recently. She exchanged vows with Roy Patterson Foote in a service conducted by Rev. Douglas B. Carr.

Nylon tulle formed the attractive floor-length dress, which featured a taffeta bodice overlaid with lace extending to five delicate points at the waist. Sleeves were lily point. Her finger-tip veil filmed from a headress of satin embroidered with pearls. Pink gladioli, stephanotis and white heather were in the bridal bouquet.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller, Victoria, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Foote, Kelowna.

Mrs. M. Wilmshurst played traditional organ music and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Gowns of nylon eyelet over taffeta were worn by attendants Miss Teanie Miller, Toronto; Mrs. M. Klaws, Kelowna; and Miss Hilma Foote, Vernon.

WOMEN URGE NUCLEAR TESTS BE STOPPED

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—A world convention of countrywomen called here this week for an end to nuclear weapons tests.

The ninth triennial conference of the Associated Countrywomen of the World passed a resolution Wednesday urging the suspension of all nuclear tests "destructive to humanity" for the sake of "safeguarding the human race from extinction and in the names of innocent women and children."

The conference, grouping about 1,000 delegates from rural women's clubs in 34 countries, opened Tuesday and continues until Aug. 15.

Skirts were waltz length. Miss Miller wore turquoise blue and bridesmatron and bridesmaid were in pink. All wore feather bandeaux and carried bouquets of carnations.

Art McMillan, Kamloops, was best man and ushers were William Klaws and Ian McClelland, both of Kelowna.

Wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, centred the bridal table at a reception in Holyrood House. Eric Hadfield proposed the toast.

Leaving on a wedding trip to the United States and the interior of British Columbia, the new Mrs. Foote donned a printed blue silk dress topped with a duster coat in chocolate tone. Her accessories were in pink and white and she carried a corsage of gladioli en tone.

Couple will live in Kelowna.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brabner, 3189 Fifth Street, recently announced the engagement of their only daughter, Elizabeth Mary (Betty) Mr. Timothy William Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rogers, 3515 Maplewood Road. The wedding will take place this Friday in Queen of Peace Church at Esquimalt with Father L. McLellan officiating.

Pregnant Nurses Wear Sack

TORONTO (CP)—The sack is helping to make it possible for married nurses who are expectant mothers to stay on the job.

Sacks and other specially-designed maternity uniforms are being worn by a number of nurses in Toronto hospitals.

According to the supervisor of nurses at one hospital, the nurses look "very neat in the new uniforms." The nurses say they find them comfortable.

While most hospitals don't encourage nurses to continue working during a pregnancy, most hospitals will keep them on if a doctor's permission is given. Some work up until the sixth month.

One hospital said this helped ease the current shortage of registered nurses.

"There's nothing wrong, they're still good nurses," said an official at the Sick Children's Hospital.

A Little Vanity Spurs Woman

In the Victorian era, when a woman was considered old at 40, a concern with looks in any but the very young was thought pure vanity. Well, we've changed since then.

Today, we recognize the fact that a spot of vanity is a healthy thing. It can make us take care how we look to others. For all of us have experienced a day that was brightened by beautiful color or perfect line.

So the girl who skins her hair into a pony tail, wears no makeup and dresses herself in black from head to toe may be following a fad but she's doing no one, herself or anyone else, a favor. She's really returning to the drabness of the worst part of the 19th century, when women wore black and went without make-up because they had no alternative.

These days, it's feminine to exercise taste in appearance, to take some trouble with the way one looks. So try out the new mauve face powder, experiment with false eyelashes, consider a new lipstick shade and, above all, be a girl.

DEAR ABBY...

He's Really Rushing the Deal

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who buries his wife on Monday and asks you for a date the following Saturday?

I accepted—out of sympathy—and he acted like a sailor who was just off the boat. His wife was a good friend of mine and I know she was sick for a long time, but I don't think there was any excuse for the hurry this man was in to make up for lost time.

I told him I didn't think I should go out with him in public again because people might talk. So he's been parking himself here every night telling me how lonesome he is. I think he is rushing the deal too much. How can I slow him up without discouraging him completely?

WIDOW WOMAN

DEAR WIDOW: A man who shows so little respect for the memory of his departed wife doesn't deserve much consideration. Tell him plainly that you refuse to be alone with him until the customary mourning period has passed. If you're wise, you'll put this man "on ice" for a year. He could use some cooling off.

DEAR ABBY: Has the world gone insane? This afternoon I saw a young woman nursing her baby on a bus! I was so ashamed for the other people on the bus that I stood in front of her and made a "curtain" with my coat. She sneered at me as though I were out of my head. Are women nursing their babies in public these days, or was this one a little off?

private—or they should. But occasionally a non-conformist will come along and disregard everything and everyone except her baby and his feeding schedule. In which case—those present simply turn their attention elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I am so shook I don't know what to do. I've been going with this guy for about a year and we have been doing things we should not. I am 18 and he is 19. To make a long story short, I thought we had to get married so we told our parents, and we have plans to be married a week from this Sunday.

I just found out that we don't have to get married. Should I tell him or be quiet about it and let things go on as planned?

I love him very much and am afraid he wouldn't marry me unless he thought he had to. IN A MESS

DEAR IN: Tell the boy (and your parents) there is no reason to rush the wedding. If you feel that the boy wouldn't marry you unless he thought he "had to," turn him loose. A trapped man makes a poor husband. Now, young lady, thank your lucky stars that your lesson was not as expensive as it might have been. Elevate your morals, and resolve never to get yourself into a situation like this one again.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Elbow leaners:

Please tell me if I am right or wrong. When I was a youngster some 60 years ago, it was considered a very rude act of behavior to lean on one or both elbows at the dinner table. I have vivid memories of having my wrists grabbed by my father, who would bang my elbow on the table. I learned fast to act like a gentleman. But how different it is with the present generation. Many of them lean on the table insolently or indifferently, and if anyone tries to break their bad table manners, they resent it. They will say that famous TV stars do it and so what's wrong with it? Maybe the stars think it is cute, but I think those "in the know" say they are rude.

Louise Davis answers:

Back in the early days of the century, elbow-leaning was definitely taboo. But etiquette undergoes an evolution as do many other things. Times have changed. People are much more informal today, but etiquette hasn't gone to the dogs. It just takes a new, well-bred form with well-bred men and women and boys and girls. If you really stop to analyze objectively, surely you don't think that an elbow on the table looks so bad, does it? People aren't copying television stars. The stars are copying people. I don't think that elbow-leaning is a question of insolence or indifference. A real lady or gentleman can't possibly be crude or sloppy at the table because their breeding won't let them, but their ways have changed over the years from the straight-laced, ramrod Victorian manner to the casual and informal. Is there anything wrong with that? Please, Mister, give a little!

TV ROUNDUP

By MICHAEL ROSE
TV Editor Phil Lee on Holiday

MOORE, DURELLE FIGHT TONIGHT AT 7 ON 5

Pick of the night is "Seed of Guilt" with Gloria Vanderbilt and Peggy Wood on Channel 7 at 10.

This, however, is not an outright endorsement of the vehicle, which concerns the resentment of a woman for her adopted grandchild who she considers a crass adherent in the blue, blue blood of the family.

Mind you, I feel confident that the Moore-Durrelle fight will draw more than its share of viewers since it has become something close to the old-fashioned grudge match.

There is an informal ukase against involving members of a writer's family in print but here goes anyway.

The particular incident concerned a San Francisco Beat show Monday night where the plot revolved around a bomb wired up to an alarm clock with much evacuating of residents and tense dialogue.

While the courageous officer was struggling with the internal machine a female relative opined that the thing couldn't possibly go off.

Pressed for an explanation she said that the alarm clock in question, shown ticking away the seconds, was not an alarm clock since it had no dials or hands to set said alarm.

Seconds later it rang cheerfully in the hands of relieved officers.

Ah, these low budget shows.

Are 60-Mile Zones Boosting Death Toll?

PHIL GAGLARDI
... defends new limits

GEORGE LINDSAY
... "60-mile thinking"

Increase Probed By RCMP

By PETE LOUDON

A study of spiralling B.C. traffic deaths has been undertaken by RCMP for the government.

Main point in question: Are new 60-mile-per-hour zones causing added deaths?

Traffic deaths jumped 82 per cent in July and 50 per cent in June, over the same months last year.

One fact is already obvious — speed is the prime killer, but the 60-mile zones may not be the main "slaughterhouse."

Questioned on the rising death rate, Motor Vehicle Branch superintendent George Lindsay would lay the blame on the new speed zones, at this time.

"It does not appear to be the 60-mile zones so much as the 60-mile thinking," he stated.

This bore out the opinions of other officials who felt the establishment of 60-mile zones served to increase the speed-desire of drivers, mostly youths, on all sections of highway.

The vital statistics show that last month 33 persons died on B.C. highways and streets as compared to 19 in July one year ago.

In June the death toll was also 33 — compared to 22 the same month in 1958.

Trend Reversed

In the early months of 1959 the death rate was considerably less than it was in the early months of 1958. But the trend reversed itself suddenly with the inception of the new high speed zones.

B.C. seems headed for a new record of highway death, smashed bodies, mangled cars, rising insurance rates and all the miseries attached to a "lucky" survival.

Mr. Lindsay's figures show that despite the slow start for 1959 fatalities, the current year is now 12½ per cent increased. At the end of July last year 128 had died. This year the toll so far is 155.

And it's no use saying, I am a safe driver, I won't be involved. There were 164 drivers involved in fatal accidents last year — and 64 of them were driving in a normal manner when the crash came.

Of the other 76, their death-dealing actions were caused first by excess speed, second by careless driving, mainly wrong side of the road driving. Thirty-five were also impaired by drinking.

Five who claimed they blacked out at the wheel, were responsible for seven deaths.

"Blacking out" is either a disease of increasing incidence, or the best excuse many careless drivers can put forward. Case after case, lists, "I blacked out" as the reason for an accident. A total of 34 accidents have been caused this year by drivers "blacking out."

One fatality was caused when an epileptic "blacked out." It came out at the inquest, "He usually does it three times a week."

There have been 81 accidents so far this year where police reported signs of senility — which contributed to the death of four people.

But plain old speed emerges as the top killer. It is killing in the 30-zones, the 50-zones and the 60-zones.

Ever Faster

A number of officials concerned with speed and highways refuse to be quoted directly — but they say raising the maximum speed limit is to blame for the increased deaths.

"When the limit used to be 50, many drivers drove at 60. Now it is set at 60, they want to go at 70."

"The kids feel if the law allows 60 for normal adult drivers, they still must keep ahead, keep trying to prove whatever it is they are trying to prove — they've got to go 70 or 80, or more..."

There were 5.7 per cent more licences issued this year, and the number of accidents is up 8.2 per cent. The increase in the death rate is due to the fact more people are dying in individual crashes, than ever before. The experts say this is in turn due to the speed at time of impact — a new form of togetherness.

Too Soon?

The big question, which probably won't be answered until after the RCMP study is complete — are B.C. highways ready for a legal limit of 60 miles per hour?

Many who drive over them say no.

You don't have to drive 60, defenders of the speed limit point out. But it is argued, if you don't drive 60, nine out of 10 cars will try to pass. And every attempt to pass adds to the over-all danger.

NOT SPEED

Liquor to Blame, Says Gaglardi

VANCOUVER (CP)—Highways Minister Gaglardi has promised an investigation into any connection between higher speed limits and British Columbia's mounting highway death toll.

He maintained in a telephone interview Monday from Kamloops that the introduction of 60-mile-an-hour zones on some highways, up from 50 miles an hour, were not responsible for an 8 per cent increase in highway fatalities last month and a 50 per cent increase in June.

The minister was asked for his reaction to comments from safety and municipal officials that the increase in fatalities and higher speeds are connected.

Mr. Gaglardi said they were "entitled to their opinion." He said the speed zones were introduced after five years of study. "Nobody driving the speed limit as it is posted will ever get into trouble," he said.

"If the policemen and coroners want to be honest," he added, "they would state more than 80 per cent of the accidents were the result of alcohol and not speed."

'ARBITRARY'

Safety Spokesmen Protest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Newly posted 60-mile-an-hour speed zones on many of British Columbia's highways were criticized Monday by highway safety organization spokesmen.

Andre Boucher, traffic safety chairman of the B.C. Safety Council, said he would not retract from his statement that many of the zones had been "arbitrarily posted."

Highways Minister Gaglardi termed the claim "stupid" and "incorrect" and said he doubted if a responsible person such as Mr. Boucher would make such a statement.

Stan Wicks, secretary-manager of the B.C. Automobile Association, said his association was concerned about the recent increase in highway deaths and called for an inquiry into the causes.

FAIRIES PLAN CONCLAVE

The Little Men Who Weren't There?

COLCHESTER, England (AP)—Five thousand fairies will meet here this weekend at the sixth international congress of fairies.

So, at least, says Mrs. Daphne Charters, member of the Fairies Investigation Society. She added that all 5,000 will be invisible to the ordinary eye untrained to focusing on the little folk.

"The conference will last three days," she announced. In what leafy conference grove will the fairies meet?

Mrs. Charters refused to tell.

"We don't want crowds of sightseers coming," she said. "And, anyway, they wouldn't be able to see anything."

Even Mrs. Charters, fervent believer in these creatures from another existence, says she hasn't "actually, directly" seen a fairy yet.

"But I have the unique ability of being able to talk to them," she said.

"I converse with them not in a language but through pictures in the mind."

Too Much Care for Gifted Child?

HALIFAX (CP) — Is the modern-day problem of teaching the gifted child and the "average" student being adequately tackled?

The Canadian College of Teachers, to wind up its two-day second annual session today, got some professional opinion on the subject Tuesday.

Delegates were told not to go overboard on gifted children.

Frank Patten, superintendent of secondary schools in Ottawa, said educationists should not pin too much hope on gifted children for the "salvation of society." He said the so-called gifted child "frequently deteriorates" as he progresses through secondary school and college and moves into the work world.

Nova Scotia education department said more can be accomplished through the teachers' efforts for handicapped and average children than for the gifted.

Singers Charged In Morals Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four male members of the Platters, internationally known rock 'n' roll singing group, were brought into police court Tuesday to answer charges of aiding and abetting prostitution.

The four Negro singers were granted a jury trial Aug. 28. They were arrested in a downtown hotel Monday with four 19-year-old girls — three white and one Negro. The girls were charged with prostitution and they too were granted a jury trial Aug. 28.

The four are David Lynch Jr., 30, and Tony Williams, 31, both of Hollywood, Calif.; Herbert E. Reed, 31, of Los Angeles, and Irvin Robl, 26, of El Centro, Calif.

The singers issued a statement which said:

"We sincerely regret that any error of judgment on our part has caused these ladies this embarrassment. Neither we nor the ladies are guilty of any criminal offence. We will be completely exonerated of any charges when this case is tried."

The Platters hit the musical big time about five years ago, scoring their first big record success with "Only You."

Eight of their records have passed the million sale mark, including "Twilight Time," "The Magic Touch," "You Made a Mistake," "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and currently, "Remember When?"

JAPAN GIRLS BEGIN DANCE TOUR

VANCOUVER (CP) — Japan's Takarazuka all-girl dance theatre began a three-month tour of North America Monday night by opening a six-night stand at the Queen Elizabeth Theatre here.

The 42 dancers from Japan's National Theatre performed modern, folk and historic dances before a capacity house of about 2,800. Almost one-quarter of the audience came from Vancouver's large Oriental population.

Some Japanese women residents turned up in traditional kimonos.

Traditional dances formed the largest part of the three-hour show, including masked dances, a lion dance, military drill and others in change after change of ornate and elaborate costuming.

20,000 GET POLIO SHOTS IN MONTREAL; CASES RISE

MONTREAL (CP)—Almost 20,000 people have been vaccinated in Montreal's two-day drive against polio but the number of cases continues to rise.

Twenty-seven more were registered at Montreal hospitals Tuesday, making the total this year 184. Twelve have been fatal.

More than 12,000 people received shots of Salk vaccine Tuesday night at a free clinic in City Hall which operated for more than five hours. More than 7,000 were vaccinated Monday.

Other clinics are being arranged.

Man May Achieve Bird Flight By Year End—Under Own Power

LONDON (AP)—This may be the year when man at last learns to fly like a bird—powered, that is, by nothing but his own muscles.

The problem had been under attack by no less a body than the British Royal Aeronautical Society since January, 1957. H. B. Irving, a member of the society's manpower flight group, now says:

"I think it is possible that some sort of manpowered craft will be in the air before the end of 1959."

Irving, in his 60's, is a former assistant director of aerial research for the government.

He says the manpower flight group hopes to come up with a light plane which will be pushed through the air by a pedal-driven propeller. It probably will be a tandem job for two.

For the sake of lightness, the flying machine may have an inflatable fabric wing, kept rigid only by the pressure of the air pumped into it.

Construction of the new-fangled craft with the old-fangled motive power is proceeding under maximum security wraps.

The manpower flight group's medical expert, Dr. D. R. Willkie, figures one man in reasonably good shape can exert half a horsepower for half an hour or more.

Dr. Willkie found that one man can put out the equivalent of two full horsepower for a burst lasting only a second, two men could produce four horsepower, which should be enough to get the thing off the ground.

LAST FLIGHT FOR SPITFIRE, HURRICANES

LONDON (Reuters)—The Hurricane and Spitfire fighters that traditionally lead the RAF fly past to commemorate the Battle of Britain will make their last flights at this year's celebration Sept. 20, it was learned today.

Both planes now are nearly 20 years old and the air council has decided it is impracticable to keep them sufficiently serviceable to permit their continued inclusion.

STEEL FIRMS RATIFY PACT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Steel Erectors' Association of British Columbia reached an agreement in a two-hour meeting of its members today aimed at settling a strike of 550 ironworkers.

T. H. Shields, president of the association, said the meeting's decision has been passed on to William Fraser, chief B.C. conciliation officer. He gave no hint whether the companies had agreed on a settlement favored in a meeting of representatives of both sides Tuesday.

Mr. Shields said it would be detrimental to make anything public now. The union was to meet tonight to vote on Tuesday's proposals.

Tension Grows In Cuba Crisis

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI)—Internal political tension mounted today with unconfirmed reports of fighting in Las Villas Province and increasing signs that the anti-government conspiracy has not been completely wiped out.

Liberal Chief To Visit City In September

National Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson will visit Victoria next month during a tour of Western Canada.

He will be on the coast for a three-day period, Sept. 15, 16, and 17. One of the three days will be spent in Victoria, although details of the visit are not complete.

Vancouver Island vice-president of the B.C. Liberal Association, Arthur H. Cox, said it is tentatively planned to entertain Mr. Pearson at a garden party where he will meet party members, rather than hold a political meeting.

Provincial leader of the party, Ray Perrault of Vancouver, will accompany Mr. Pearson to Victoria and on his tour through other B.C. points.

The visit is thought to be part of Liberal party reorganizational campaigning undertaken by Mr. Perrault in anticipation of a provincial election in 1960.

Now leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, Mr. Pearson, 62, is a 1957 Nobel Peace prize winner, former Canadian secretary of state for external affairs, former chairman of the NATO council and served as president of the UN seventh session in 1952-53. He represents the riding of Algoma East, in Ontario and lives at Ottawa.

Prince to Pinch Hit?

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana said today Prince Philip may visit Ghana this fall in place of the Queen, whose scheduled visit was cancelled with the announcement that she is expecting a baby.

Police Hunt for Weapons As Strife Brews on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Revival of a move for union with Greece, discovery of a suspected arms factory and a hitch in constitutional talks posed threats today to the smooth transition of this British colony to independence.

Typewritten leaflets scattered through this capital Tuesday night announced formation of a new secret organization aiming at the political union of Cyprus and Greece—Enosis—"by force if need be."

Police launched a search for arms north of Nicosia, on a scale matching operations

Events pointing up the tense situation include these:

Suspension of telephone communications with Las Villas Province by government order.

Continued arrests of persons suspected of participation in the plot, with some estimates running as high as 3,000, including many in the interior of the island.

Premier Fidel Castro's failure to appear last night for a scheduled nationwide radio-television address to report on the government's success in putting down the conspiracy. (One report said Castro had been shot and wounded, but a foreign ministry spokesman said this was "completely false.")

Information from reliable sources that the conspiracy's masterminds escaped arrest, leaving the government only the movement's figure-heads and/or money-men.

Castro's apparent indecision about his personal participation in the foreign ministers' conference in Santiago, Chile, which friends say he is extremely anxious to appear.

OPEN CLASH

Furthermore, the unconfirmed reports from Las Villas indicate the possibility of some type of open clash between Castro's government forces and unidentified rebels.

The number of participants in this clash is unknown, but it is believed that there are at least several dead and wounded as a result of it.

Some sources identify the rebels as ex-soldiers from ousted president Fulgencio Batista's army, while others say the rebels include elements which assisted in the overthrow of Batista.

Complete severance of telephone connections which normally are good with the area and long delays in getting through with air messages also are obscuring up-to-date reports from western Cuba.

Reports piling into Havana indicate an almost unbelievable number of arrests throughout the island. Informants indicate that early reports of more than 1,000 arrested were far below actuality.

The 1,000 figure probably applied to the first day round-up on Saturday in Havana alone.

In succeeding days, the Havana figure probably has risen another 1,000, while reports from interior cities indicate at least another 1,000 definitely picked up there and the total is still rising rapidly.

Castro's failure to appear Tuesday night for his radio-TV address gives added weight to speculation that the government's preventive activities are continuing.

Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore points to scales as Canadian challenger Yvon Durelle weighs in for tonight's 15-round championship bout

at Montreal. Moore weighed in at 174½ and Durelle 173. Centre is E. T. Asselin, member of Montreal Athletic Commission. (AP Wirephoto.)

BUT YVON APPEARS CONFIDENT

The Odds Favor Archie

MONTREAL (UPI)—Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore weighed 174½ pounds and challenger Yvon Durelle scaled 173 at their weigh-in today for the return title fight tonight at the Montreal Forum.

Moore, defending the 175-pound crown for the eighth time, was heavier than he was on Dec. 10 for his first fight with Durelle, when he registered 173½. Durelle also was heavier. He scaled 172 in December.

Durelle appeared very confident and was smiling as he stepped up to the scales although betting odds are 3-1 in favor of the champion.

Just before the weigh-in, the Montreal Athletic Commission announced that six-ounce gloves would be used tonight. Both fighters said they were satisfied with the decision.

Eight-ounce gloves were used in the first fight, but both Durelle and Moore requested the lighter gloves for their second match.

SEE FIGHT CHANNEL 5

Victoria residents may view the Moore-Durelle fight tonight over Channel 5 at 7 p.m. There will be no telecast by the CBC.

Radio station CKNW, New Westminster, at 980 kilocycles will also carry the fight.

Victoria and Vancouver radio stations will carry only bulletins.

U.S. Will Let Khrushchev See Some Military Bases

KING TUT'S CANE STOLEN

CARIO (UPI)—A priceless gold-plated cane from the tomb of King Tutankhamen has been stolen from the Cairo museum, police reported today.

The 4½-foot cane bore the hieroglyphic inscription, "He that carries this cane will have the blessing of Ammon and walk-in his retinue." Ammon was the chief Egyptian deity.

Selim Hassan, Egypt's leading Egyptologist, said the cane was "as precious as Moses' stick."

"It played a historic role in uncovering the secrets of Tutankhamen's reign," he said. "It bore the king's name, title and biography."

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that Premier Khrushchev is being invited to see some military installations during his visit to the United States if he wishes.

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the president told a press conference. But if he does not want to see any establishments, that will be agreeable to Eisenhower, too.

Khrushchev told a Moscow press conference last Wednesday that if he were invited to see an American military installation "I would not go."

He added he would go to the U.S. as a peaceful man and would not have any rocket sticking out of his pocket. Discussing the unprecedented Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

Ike to Ask Why No Progress Allowed

He also plans to ask why Khrushchev does not permit the progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

In response to a series of questions about the Khrushchev visit here next month and his visit to Russia later, Eisenhower also said:

1. He hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to act as a spokesman for the West.

2. Eisenhower does not plan to accompany Khrushchev on his tour around the U.S.

3. His decision to invite Khrushchev here and to go to Russia is not by any means a reversal of the policies of the late secretary of state, John Foster Dulles.

He often talked with Dulles about such visits and as long ago as the last month of 1958 they began to feel that their diplomacy should be reinforced by something new in this respect.

4. On his own trip to Russia, Eisenhower would like to see people and find out what they are like.

New Fight Flares Over Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Police clubbed back segregationists today near Central High School just before two Negroes walked calmly across its campus to integrate it once again.

The segregationists had been pushed back a block by police who clubbed and arrested at least 15 of them.

Fire hoses also were turned on the demonstrators.

But the crowd still jeered police, calling them "cowards" as Jefferson Thomas, 16, and Elizabeth Eckford, 17, approached the school alone. They walked quietly along the street.

200 IN PARADE

Some 200 segregationists had marched on Central from a rally on the state legislature's lawn where Governor Orval Faubus told them nothing was to be gained by violence.

Police were rushed from Hall High School where three Negroes were integrated this morning without incident.

The scene at Central was reminiscent of the bloody battle in 1957 when President Eisenhower ordered in 1,000 paratroopers to keep the peace and protect nine Negroes who integrated the school.

Police Chief Gene Smith ordered hoses turned on the demonstrators as a last resort. Part of the crowd fell back but a few stood up to the stinging streams of water.

A boy and a man were bleeding from wounds on their heads.

Another man was crying. He said he had been cracked across the ribs with a nightstick.

Six girls, standing up to the water and drenched from head to foot, sobbed and screamed. Another girl screamed over and over, "Communists! Communists! Communists!"

The marchers had been chanting "24-6-8, we don't want to integrate."

It was one of the battle cries segregationists had used in 1957.

The scuffle lasted six or eight minutes, but the worst was over in four minutes.

Faubus went from his office in the state legislative building to the scene of a lunchtime segregation rally on the lawn outside and told the crowd he was with them "all the way."

A storm of applause greeted the governor's appearance. He spoke for several minutes, reiterating earlier statements that he believed the ballot box was the best way to fight integration.

Some reached him and patted him on the back.

Police on foot and on horseback had been posted to guard the embassy, where U.S. secretary of state Christian A. Herter will live for the five-day duration of the conference. Motorized troops were held in reserve nearby to deal with serious disorders.

Tension Grows
In Cuba Crisis

HAVANA, Cuba (UPI)—Internal political tension mounted today with unconfirmed reports of fighting in Las Villas Province and increasing signs that the anti-government conspiracy has not been completely wiped out.

Events pointing up the tense situation include these:

Suspension of telephone communications with Las Villas Province by government order.

Continued arrests of persons suspected of participation in the plot, with some estimates running as high as 3,000, including many in the interior of the island.

Premier Fidel Castro's failure to appear last night for a scheduled nationwide radio-television address to report on the government's success in putting down the conspiracy. (One report said Castro had been shot and wounded, but a foreign ministry spokesman said this was "completely false.")

Information from reliable sources that the conspiracy's masterminds escaped arrest, leaving the government only the movement's figure-heads and/or money men.

Castro's apparent indecision about his personal participation in the foreign ministers' conference in Santiago, Chile, at which friends say he is extremely anxious to appear.

Furthermore, the unconfirmed reports from Las Villas indicate the possibility of some type of open clash between Castro's government forces and unidentified rebels.

The number of participants in this clash is unknown, but it is believed that there are at least several dead and wounded as a result of it.

Some sources identify the rebels as ex-soldiers from ousted president Fulgencio Batista's army, while others say the rebels include elements which assisted in the overthrow of Batista.

Complete severance of telephone connections which normally are good with the area and long delays in getting through with air messages also are obscuring up-to-date reports from western Cuba.

Reports piling into Havana indicate an almost unbelieve-

Police Hunt for Weapons
As Strife Brews on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—Revival of a move for union with Greece, discovery of a suspected arms factory and a hitch in constitutional talks posed threats today to the smooth transition of this British colony to independence.

Typewritten leaflets scattered through this capital Tuesday night announced formation of a new secret organization aiming at the political union of Cyprus and Greece—Enosis—"by force if need be."

Liberal Chief
To Visit City
In September

National Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson will visit Victoria next month during a tour of Western Canada.

He will be on the coast for a three-day period, Sept. 13, 16, and 17. One of the three days will be spent in Victoria, although details of the visit are not complete.

Vancouver Island vice-president of the B.C. Liberal Association, Arthur H. Cox, said it is tentatively planned to entertain Mr. Pearson at a garden party where he will meet party members, rather than hold a political meeting.

Provincial leader of the party, Ray Perrault of Vancouver, will accompany Mr. Pearson to Victoria and on his tour through other B.C. points. The visit is thought to be part of Liberal party reorganizational campaigning undertaken by Mr. Perrault in anticipation of a provincial election in 1960.

Now Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons, Mr. Pearson, 62, is a 1957 Nobel Peace prize winner, former Canadian secretary of state for external affairs, former chairman of the NATO council and served as president of the UN seventh session in 1952-53. He represents the riding of Algoma East, in Ontario and lives at Ottawa.

Boy Injured
When Struck
By Fire Hose

A five-year-old Saanich boy was taken to hospital with head and leg injuries shortly before 2 p.m. today after being knocked on to rocks by a hose used in fighting a grass fire.

In serious condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital is Donald Stewart, 3314 Fircrest.

The boy was apparently standing at the corner of Knight Road and Fircrest Place when a hose being used by Saanich firemen to fight a grass fire in the area snagged on a truck and rebounded toward him.

The lad was struck in the back of the head and knocked on to sharp rocks at the side of the road. Saanich police took him to hospital.

Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stewart, suffered a bad head cut and leg abrasions.

READY FOR TONIGHT'S TITLE FIGHT

at Montreal. Moore weighed in at 174½ and Durelle 173. Centre is E. T. Asselin, member of Montreal Athletic Commission. (AP Wirephoto.)

BUT YVON APPEARS CONFIDENT

The Odds Favor Archie

MONTREAL (UPI)—Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore weighed 174½ pounds and challenger Yvon Durelle scaled 173 at their weigh-in today for the return title fight tonight at the Montreal Forum.

Moore, defending the 175-pound crown for the eighth time, was heavier than he was on Dec. 10 for his first fight with Durelle, when he registered 173½. Durelle also was heavier. He scaled 172 in December.

Durelle appeared very confident and was smiling as he stepped up to the scales although betting odds are 3-1 in favor of the champion.

Just before the weigh-in, the Montreal Athletic Commission announced that six-ounce gloves would be used tonight. Both fighters said they were satisfied with the decision.

Eight-ounce gloves were used in the first fight, but both Durelle and Moore requested the lighter gloves for their second match.

STEEL FIRMS
RATIFY PACT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Steel Erectors' Association of British Columbia reached an agreement in a two-hour meeting of its members today aimed at settling a strike of 550 ironworkers.

T. H. Shields, president of the association, said the meeting's decision has been passed on to William Fraser, chief B.C. conciliation officer. He gave no hint whether the companies had agreed on a settlement favored in a meeting of representatives of both sides Tuesday.

Mr. Shields said it would be detrimental to make anything public now. The union was to meet tonight to vote on Tuesday's proposals.

Little Rock may not be eddicatin' its own citizens these days, but it's sure eddicatin' the rest of us.

Wonder what new mention Durelle will git in Ol' Moore's Almanac?

Big Choice Open
To Soviet Leader

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that Premier Khrushchev is being invited to see some military installations during his visit to the United States if he wishes.

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the president told a press conference. But if he does not want to see any establishments, that will be agreeable to Eisenhower too.

Khrushchev told a Moscow press conference last Wednesday that if he were invited to see an American military installation "I would not go."

He added he would go to the U.S. as a peaceful man and would not have any rocket sticking out of his pocket.

Discussing the unprecedented Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

Ike to Ask Why No Progress Allowed

He also plans to ask why Khrushchev does not permit the progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

In response to a series of questions about the Khrushchev visit here next month and his visit to Russia later, Eisenhower also said:

1. He hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to act as a spokesman for the West.

able number of arrests throughout the island. Informants indicate that early reports of more than 1,000 arrested were far below actuality.

The 1,000 figure probably applied to the first day round-up on Saturday in Havana alone.

In succeeding days, the Havana figure probably has risen another 1,000, while reports from interior cities indicate at least another 1,000 definitely picked up there and the total is still rising rapidly.

Castro's failure to appear Tuesday night for his radio-TV address gives added weight to speculation that the government's preventive activities are continuing.

Legion Rites For Russian War Veteran

Selim Hassan, Egypt's leading Egyptologist, said the cane was "as precious as Moses' stick."

"It played a historic role in uncovering the secrets of Tutankhamen's reign," he said. "It bore the king's name, title and biography."
